

BREAKING BREAD; BREAKING GROUND. State officials and Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission members met on common ground yesterday to give the "go ahead" to construction of the new Northeastern Turnpike Extension near Blakeslee. In photo are those who sat at speakers' table during luncheon at Split Rock Lodge before ground was broken. They are: David E. Watson, James T. Torrance, T. J. Evans, all of the commission; Gov. John S. Fine and Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood; Highway Secretary E. L. Schmidt; Rev. Theodore L. Weatherly, Nanticoke. (Daily Record Photo)

SPECIAL SILVER SHOVEL was used to break first ground for extension by Gov. John S. Fine who had his two teen-aged sons. Shovel was used on all other groundbreaking ceremonies involving turnpike projects. Fine praised work of Commission; predicted two more modern toll roads for this region in years to come. LOCAL LUMINARIES LINE UP. Despite thick, peasoup fog and drizzling rain more than 600 persons turned out for the affair. Among them: R. W. Stadden, Pocono Forestry Association; Luther Conant, Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co.; William Herman, resident manager of Split Rock Lodge; Gerald P. O'Neill, Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce; John Shotwell, State Assemblyman from Monroe county; John Shinn, Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau; Harold Swenson, executive secretary of Chamber and Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau. Gov. Fine Calls 110-Mile Superhighway Economic Boon

600 Assemble For Ceremony Starting Road

Blakeslee — A great boon to the economic and industrial development of the Poconos and Northeast Pennsylvania is the way Gov. John S. Fine described the new 110-mile superhighway at formal ground breaking ceremonies near here yesterday afternoon.

Despite a dense fog and intermittent rain over 600 persons assembled along Route 940, midway between here and White Haven to witness the opening of the Northeast extension of Pennsylvania's famed turnpike.

Gov. Fine was assisted by members of the Turnpike Commission, headed by Thomas J. Evans, chairman, and other State and county officials in the ceremony. Gov. Fine's two young sons also were at his side for the affair and the luncheon meeting which preceded in Split Rock Lodge.

Fine praised the work of the Commission for its work on four other turnpike extensions in the State and predicted two other modern toll roads for this region to link with the Northeast turnpike once it is completed in about two years.

One spur of the Northeast superhighway will cut through Monroe County to Delaware Water Gap and Portland, Fine said. And the other westerly to the Lycoming Valley and Susquehanna River.

Chairman Evans said aerial views of this section of Monroe County, including the Stroudsburgs, now are being taken in an effort to determine the best route for the eastern turnpike spur.

While it was indicated from 12 to 14 interchanges will be located along the new Northeast turnpike from Plymouth Meeting near Norristown to Moosic, between Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, Evans said the sites for those formations are not established yet. He advised they would be announced in about two weeks.

Gov Fine also disclosed a meeting of the Governor's Conference in Washington next month "at my solicitation." He added the welfare of the anthracite region will be considered at this meeting. "I want to come back home in a few months (expiration of his term) knowing I have done something for Northeast Pennsylvania" Fine said.

E. L. Schmidt, secretary of State highways, told some 450 people at Split Rock Lodge the new toll roads under construction by the Turnpike Commission will do much to alleviate the traffic conditions in the state. "But we still have a lot of work to do," he said.

Also speaking at both Split Rock Lodge and the groundbreaking site were Evans, David E. Watson and James F. Torrance, secretary-treasurer of the Commission, Schmidt and Lt. Gov. Lloyd Wood.

Among those in the Monroe County delegation at both affairs were G. P. O'Neill, representing the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce; John Shinn, president, Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau; Harold Swenson, executive secretary of both groups; Rep. John Shotwell and R. W. Stadden representing Pocono Forestry Association.

'Young Soviets' Apparently Still Pull Wires In State Department, Braden Says

Washington (AP) Spruille Braden, former assistant secretary of state, testified yesterday that "young Soviets" are apparently still pulling wires in the State Department as he said they were during World War Two.

Some of them, he indicated, may be under the thumb of Communists operating behind the scenes.

Testifying before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, Braden declared:

"Swarms of state interventionists have been injected or absorbed into the agencies having to do with our foreign operations. Behind them, in the wings, developing and pushing plans, infiltrating not only our political structures but education, the press and elsewhere, exists an unidentifiable but nonetheless effective 'they.'

"Among the 'they,' we may expect to find the dangerous Communists and traitors."

Braden gave much the same testimony before the same committee in New York last Dec. 22.

Braden described the offstage conspirators as "diabolically ingenious" and said that "state interventionists and do-gooders" within the department "often turn out to be puppets who can be juggled by 'they.'"

The former diplomat said he could give no names, but in referring to "young Soviets" in the department he said:

"Until you get rid of them, I don't think you are going to cure the situation."

Braden made the comment after Sen. John M. Butler (R-Md) asked if it was true that even with the changeover in the department's "top echelon" under the Eisenhower administration, "the people who make the policy are the same ones who have been there for years."

"That is my conviction," Braden replied. "By and large, the same people are doing the same thing."

The subcommittee, under the chairmanship of Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), called Braden as the lead-off witness in the latest of its efforts to expose what Jenner calls "the pattern" of Communist infiltration into the federal government.

French Drop Firebombs On Rebels

Hanoi, Indochina (AP) — French planes dropped streams of firebombs on Vietminh troop positions around besieged Dien Bien Phu yesterday in a tremendous aerial assault.

The French said their American-strengthened air arm inflicted heavy losses on the Communist led rebels and upset their time-table for renewal of new attempts to crush the northwest Indochina fortress with mass infantry attacks.

In a political development, a former Premier of Viet Nam called for a cease fire if possible now. Tran Van Huu, who held the premiership of Indochina's largest state from 1950-52, appealed also to negotiators at the forthcoming Geneva conference to end the war, now in its eighth year.

French army headquarters said American-supplied transport planes, newly employed in the assault, dropped 100 big napalm bombs on rebels concentrated northeast of the heart of the fortress. The firebombing kept ablaze big stretches of jungle-covered hills where the Vietminh were entrenched.

McCarthy-Army Row Will Not Be Stopped Even If Some Principals Resign

Washington (AP) - Several members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee said yesterday the inquiry into the row between Sen. McCarthy and Army officials will be held even if some resignations are submitted prior to it.

The senators thus took cognizance of rumors of behind-the-scenes efforts to induce Secretary of the Army Stevens; John G. Adams, Army counsel; and Roy Cohn, subcommittee counsel, to resign in a move to head off the inquiry. They are storm centers of the row. Origin of the resignation reports was not known.

Sen. Mundt (R-Wis), who will preside at the inquiry, told reporters he personally hadn't heard the rumors before newsmen mentioned them to him, but he added:

"I wouldn't think that any resignations would provide a satisfactory settlement that would make an investigation unnecessary.

"I would say that the nature of the investigation might be affected somewhat by statements, if any, accompanying such resignation." He declined to elaborate that point.

Sen. McClellan (Ark), the subcommittee's senior Democratic member, said it this way:

"The resignation of any party or parties involved will not settle or resolve this controversy.

"There will remain the charges of blackmail against the Army, and the charges against Cohn, the chairman of the committee and the other members of the staff that reflect on the integrity of the Army and the integrity of this committee.

"I think I speak for the Democrats of the committee that a full scale, thorough and complete investigation must be made . . . There will be no brushoff, cover-up or whitewash with the acquiescence of the subcommittee."

First General Tax Relief In Thirty Years

Washington (AP) — The Senate last night passed a bill cutting a broad range of excise taxes by $1,034,000,000 after beating down efforts both to extend the cuts and also to wipe out most of them.

The vote was 76 to 8.

The chamber refused, 54 to 34, to knock most tax cuts out of the bill despite veiled warnings by Sen. Byrd (D-Va) and others that the hydrogen bomb era may impose big new defense burdens on the American people.

As approved by the Senate, the measure provides for the first general cut in the excise levies in almost 30 years.

It would slice the tax on refrigerators and other household appliances from 10 to 5 per cent and would also trim federal sales taxes on dozens of items such as admission tickets, furs, jewelry, cosmetics, sporting goods and telephone bills.

The Senate shouted approval of an amendment by Sen. Byrd to knock out the House-approved cut on the cabaret tax applying in night clubs, restaurants with dancing, and the like.

The House cut this levy from 20 to 10 per cent. Byrd's amendment restored the 20 per cent rate.

Adoption of the proposal had the effect of restoring 23 million dollars in revenue to the measure.

The measure now goes to conference with the House, which voted 912 million dollars in cuts.

The conference is expected to be held next Monday or Tuesday so that the bill can be rushed to President Eisenhower by Wednesday. The cuts are scheduled to take effect next Thursday, April 1.

The administration has taken a general position against excise cuts, because they will add about a billion dollars to the $2,900,000,000 deficit already forecast for the new financial year.

But Senate Republican leaders expressed confidence President Eisenhower will sign the measure.

The bill wil save the Treasury $1,007,000,000 in added revenue for the next year by extending, to April 1, 1955, a series of boosts in major excises voted in 1951.

Many of the rates being reduced were put on or pushed to high levels in World War II. Congress has been besieged since then for relief from them.

Democratic sponsers of the reduction on household appliances were openly fearful that Sen. Millikin (R-Colo), floor manager for the bill, and other Republicans may drop this cut in the conference.

A Democratic drive led by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) also tried to get a 275 million slash in the excise on autos and an 80 million cut in the levies on television and radio sets and phonographs. These were beaten by large margins.

Western Allies Approve Conscription By Germany

Bonn, Germany (AP) The Western Allies last night cleared the way for final German ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty. They approved constitutional changes that will permit Bonn to raise a 500,000-man army, but barred actual conscription until EDC is ratified by all six participating nations.

This was a compromise worked out after a week of wrangling between the United States and Britain on one side and the French on the other.

The French feared that the German constitutional amendments voted by the West German Parliament last week would give the Germans unrestricted rights to rearm.

After much hesitation and caustic comment from the Germans, the French accepted a British-American compromise formula.

The three Allied high commissioners sent a letter to Acting Chancellor Franz Bluecher saying they approved the amendments making it legal for West Germany to be a member of EDC, and approving a clause giving the West German government responsibility for defense and authorizing conscription of all German men from the age of 18.

President Theodor Heuss has withheld signature—a last act of ratification—pending passage of the amendments and approval by the occupying powers.

T-H Revision Is Postponed

Washington (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee halted work on revision of the Taft-Hartley labor law yesterday pending White House clarification of its views on federal vs. state jurisdiction over labor-management relations.

Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) canceled committee meetings scheduled for today and tomorrow, saying "we are not going to move until we hear from the White House on their position on this important question."

As it now stands, the Taft-Hartley law takes priority over all state laws except on union security matters. This has caused the Supreme Court to throw out several state laws dealing with public utility strikes and other situations.

Shippers Make Wage Offers To Dockmen

New York (AP) — The shipping industry made a bid yesterday to smash New York's costly waterfront strike. They offered a wage boost plus nearly one and a half million dollars in cash for a return to work.

At the same time, the shippers said they will try to get a new Taft-Hartley law injunction against the strike of the old International Longshoremen's Assn. (ind), which has cost an estimated 275 million dollars. Such an injunction ended an ILA strike last October.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner said he tried by telephone during the day to arrange an appointment with President Eisenhower to discuss the gravity of the dock situation. But he said his calls were referred to the Labor Department.

In Washington, the National Labor Relations Board ordered a speed up in determining whether the dockers should be represented by the ILA or its AFL rival of the same name.

Greensburg, Pa. (AP) — Atty. Paul K. McCormick said last night five indicted members of a Monessen election board have resigned.

Effective Defense Given Armed Services Committee Against Hydrogen Bombs

Washington (AP)—A plan for "effective defense" of the United States against possible atomic and hydrogen bomb attacks was handed to the Senate Armed Services Committee yesterday with a warning that "complete protection" is not possible.

The top secret report, compiled by Robert C. Sprague, North Adams, Mass., engineer and manufacturer, with aid of all top government agencies, will be handed to President Eisenhower and the National Security Council next Tuesday.

Carefully guarding disclosure of any of the recommendations, Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) said in a statement:

"The measures now under way and planned for in the future should, together with our offensive forces, provide an effective defense for the United States commensurate with the threat."

By "threat" he referred to "6 Soviet developments in the nuclear and thermonuclear fields," terms used for atomic and hydrogen weapons and devices.

East Germany Is Recognized

Berlin (AP) — The Soviet Union announced last night it is recognizing East Germany as a fully sovereign state. The move was immediately labeled by the U.S. State Department as a phony gesture.

The Soviet announcement, circulated by the East German news agency ADN, said Russian troops would still be stationed in the Soviet zone, a precaution which would assure continued tight control by the Kremlin.

In Washington, the State Department recalled that only nine months ago the East Germans staged widespread revolts, demanding free elections. It said the "entire puppet regime would collapse under the weight of hatred and hostility of the populace" if Soviet troops were withdrawn. Soviet tanks were called out last June to suppress workers' revolts.

Convicts Caught After Breakout

Rochester, N. Y. (AP) — Two gun-wielding ex-convicts revisited the Monroe County penitentiary early yesterday and sprang two buddies but were caught within seven hours along with one of the beneficiaries of their trickery.

Police continued to comb the city for the fourth fugitive, Anthony Mendolia, 45, of Rochester.

Lenten Meditation

As we read the story of the Temptations of Christ, we are apt to overlook the fact that here is an example of human possibilities. The story is valueless unless we can see in it that He was tempted as all people are tempted and that temptations must be overcome, not merely by saying no to them, but, by facing and living by the eternal truths of life.

The temptations, therefore were a time of decision, and one can safely say that His were the most important decisions ever made by anyone. He decided that life must be governed by spiritual rather than material values. In this He did not for a moment deny material values but He put them in the scale of values where they belong.

From that time on the record of His life and teachings reveal how one should live such a life.

In the light of His life, we also, if we would find the abundant life, must have a time of decision and then live by it. The lenten season therefore, cannot be properly observed by mere mechanical self denial of a few luxuries but rather by the determining of a positive attitude toward right.

Staff Officer Hurt

New Policy May Release War Criminals

Bonn, Germany (AP)—The U. S. High Commission announced yesterday a new policy under which it will be possible to release top-ranking German war criminals from Landsberg Prison without announcing their names.

This came on the heels of a disclosure by Western sources that the United States, Britain and France had secretly proposed to Russia the release on medical parole of several of Hitler's ailing top lieutenants from Spandau Prison.

The High Commission made the announcement on policy change after disclosing that 84 war criminals had been released on parole since last fall from Landsberg Prison in the U. S. zone.

It said the agreement to withhold the names was made with the U. S. Army, which has jurisdiction over some of the prisoners. Formerly the names and destinations of freed prisoners was listed by the Americans. This practice is followed by the British and French.

Among top prisoners in Landsberg are former Field Marshal Erhard Milch and several generals.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer had appealed to the Western Powers for the release of the ailing prisoners from Spandau and relaxation of strict regulations in effect there.

The two men who are most seriously ill in Spandau are Konstantin von Neurath, 81, former foreign minister and "protector" of Czechoslovakia and Erich Raeder, 78, the former grand admiral who planned the invasion of Norway.

They were sentenced in 1946 by the International Military Tribunal at Nuernberg, made up of representatives of the four occupation powers. Von Neurath got 15 years and Raeder life imprisonment.

Allied officials said the future of the prisoners at Spandau was mentioned to Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov during the Big Four conference in Berlin.

Molotov promised to discuss the question with Soviet High Commissioner Vladimir Semyenov, to whom the Western Allies made their secret proposal.

Merit Medal Presented To Plane Spotter

Pittsburgh (AP)—Joe Durant, who calls himself a broken-back coal miner not much good for anything anymore, received yesterday the Air Force's medal of merit.

The Air Force honored the 46-year-old disabled miner from Uniontown for 2,500 volunteer hours—more than any other western Pennsylvanian — of spotting airplanes for the Ground Observer Corps.

It was the Air Force's way of saying "thanks" to Joe and the other "Joes" who watch for enemy attack.

Besides receiving the medal, the shy, crippled coal miner got a personal letter from Gen. B. W. Chidlaw of the Air Defense Command and a hour of local civil defense and Air Force installations.

Lt. J. T. Scroggs, representing the Air Force and civil defense, told Durant "We wish there were a lot more Joes like you," adding: "The Air Force and civil defense is proud of your record. Yours is an important part in our whole program.

Circuit Court Upholds Bangor Mills Verdict

U. S. Court of Appeals upheld dismissal of suit by Rubin Senor, trading as General Yarns Converting Co., New York, for $14,761 from Bangor Mills, Inc., Bangor, Pa., claimed to be due for 1,250 pounds of nylon yarn.

Mr. Senor claimed the goods were sold to William H. Shetzline, Jr., Penndel, Pa., as agent for Bangor, and payment was refused on check given by Mr. Shetzline. He charged Bangor was Shetzline's undisclosed principal in the transaction and responsible for payment for the nylon, though it was billed to River Lane Knitting Mills, Penndel.

Federal Judge William H. Kirkpatrick dismissed the suit May 20, last, holding plaintiff had not proved Mr. Shetzline specifically acted for Bangor in the transaction.

Circuit Court upheld these findings of Judge Kirkpatrick and his conclusions that Mr. Shetzline was not sole agent for Bangor, but was free to make nylon purchases for himself, or for any other firm, and to disregard Bangor's requirements entirely.

Club members agreed to form a citizens committee to work with other Slate Belt service clubs in an attempt to determine the feelings of local residents on the jointure question.

Fifth St. Bridge, Broad St. Project Bids Due On April 15th

Boyer Gives Notice To Commissioners

Bids for construction of Fifth St. Bridge, Stroudsburg, and work on Broad St. will be received by the State on April 15.

If the low bid is "acceptable," work should start "in the near future," according to a letter to county commissioners from district engineer R. E. Boyer.

Boyer's letter, received and read at a commissioners meeting yesterday morning, indicated the only problem still remaining before construction begins is the study of bids and determination of whether the lowest bid is satisfactory.

The letter was the first official guess at a starting time for construction since the first of this year.

Involved in the project are complete replacement of the present bridge running across McMichael's Creek from Fifth St. to Broad St.; construction of a "slowdown" lane to the right of Route 611 on Foxtown Hill.

Plans for construction of the bridge also call for filling in the mill race running alongside Ann St. until that portion is on a level with the street.

The "fill" will extend from the edge of the street to a wall next to the stream channel, creating a roadway out of the dry portions of the gorge.

Construction of the bridge nearly 50 percent shorter than the present structure will be made across the stream portion only.

The State has also agreed to provide pipe which will run from the dam to the Holland Thread Co. When laid, the pipe will provide water to the mill for fire protection and other purposes.

Although no definite date for beginning of construction has been set by State Highway Department engineers, the announcement of the date for opening bids was an added clarification of construction plans.

The bridge and Broad St. are now under State ownership. The bridge was at one time maintained by county funds while Stroudsburg borough maintained Broad St.

Until last August 6, State, county and borough officials were involved in a discussion of payment of incidental costs created by construction of the new bridge.

These incidental costs included construction of sidewalks, gutters, property damages and right-of-way damages.

Borough council informed State engineers on May 6, 1953, that Stroudsburg was financially unable to pay the estimated $25,000 necessary for these added projects.

On Aug. 7, county commissioners agreed to pay the cost of such construction "providing the cost (did) not exceed $18,900" for sidewalks, gutters and property damages.

The county also agreed to pay "100 percent" of right-of-way damages created by work at the junction of Broad St. and Route 611. County commissioners added the stipulation that they would assume the costs only on the understanding that county's share be paid from the liquid fuels tax account.

County payment would be split into two parts according to the Aug. 7 agreement first one payable on July 1, 1954; second one year later.

Engineers To Arbitrate

Chicago (AP) — The nation's major railroads and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers yesterday agreed to arbitrate the union's demand for a 30 per cent pay increase.

A six-member panel will decide the issue. Two members will be chosen by the rail lines and two by the brotherhood.

STILL SHOVELING; STILL SMILING. Although he had help from his sons in turning over the first shovelful, Gov. John S. Fine kept right on shoveling. It was for benefit of photographers assigned to cover the affair. Members of his cabinet, State and county officials are gathered round in photo above as Fine turns over another shovel of dirt. During the afternoon session a panel discussion on "Excuses from Required Physical Activity Classes," will be held. George Ockershausen will serve as chairman.

On the panel are Dr. John P. Lim and Miss Eloise Bryan, both affiliated with the Stroudsburg school system and others from this area.

A gymnastic and tumbling demonstration will be held during the afternoon with Edmund L. Shay and Genevieve Zimbar in charge. At 3:45 p. m. Karen Roth, creative dance instructor from Stroudsburg, will conduct a clinic in modern dance.

Overall director of the conference is Prof. O. J. Liljenstein, head of the Health and Physical Education department at State Teachers College.

British Will Get Commercial TV In Future

London (AP) — Commercial television in Britain within the next 16 months seemed a virtual certainty last night.

In the critical test the House of Commons last night approved on second reading the Churchill government's bill permitting TV programs with advertising.

It will take months before the bill actually becomes law and even longer to get the first three stations for commercial TV into operation. The prospects are for mid-1955.

Prime Minister Churchill's Laborite opponents have claimed in debate that the government's proposal "stinks of Americanism and American methods."

There are about 76,764 white people in the Belgian Congo in a population of about 12 million.

Cash Dividend Payments High

Washington (AP) Cash dividend payments by corporations issuing public dividend reports amounted to 244 million dollars in February, compared with 181 million a year before, the Commerce Department said yesterday.

However, it said, the big difference was due to the fact that a number of firms which distributed dividends in January or March of 1953 made the payments in February this year.

Standard Brewery, Scranton, Sold

Scranton, (AP) Sale of the Standard Brewing Co., here for a price "in excess of $400,000" was announced yesterday.

A group of Lackawanna County residents, headed by Neil C. Mulcock, purchased the Brewery property from Standard Industries, Inc., newly formed corporation which has been operating the brewery as a subsidiary.

Arrests May Solve Milford Robbery Case

Milford Three men nabbed by State police of Blakeley and another described as the ringleader, captured in Texas, are implicated in a wave of safe robberies, including one here, which netted the gang over $3,000 in cash since Jan. 28.

The trio captured near Factoryville Tuesday have admitted their part in some 15 burglaries over a 5-county area in Pennsylvania.

The arrests followed the apprehension in Texas of Walter Rought 20, of Nicholson RD2. Arrested by Blakeley State police were George Wilverding, 20, and Robert Liples, 22, both of Factoryville, and Clarence Van Ness, 20, of LaPlume.

Police said the tip came after the arrest of Rought, an exconvict, in Texas where he was wanted for two safe jobs. He was named as ringleader by the other three, police said.

The safe job here occurred Feb. 7 at the Cicerone & Son Hauling Co. office where about $75 in cash was taken. Other burglaries, most of them safe enteries, occurred in Lackawanna, Wyoming, Bradford and Luzerne Counties.

AUDREY HEPBURN, star of "Roman Holiday," was named the best actress of 1953 at the 26th annual Academy Awards last night.

CD Communications Test Exercise Is Slated To Test For All Weak Spots

An Eastern Area Civil Defense communications test exercise, which will include Monroe County, has been scheduled for March 30 at 7:30 p. m. This exercise will be similar to the January communications test alert and will last for the duration of two hours.

According to local authorities the purpose of the test is to discover weak spots in the communications operations of the eastern area and within all participating counties.

The operation has been designed to aid each civil defense director to discover the functional needs of his control center.

During the alert an attempt will be made to ascertain the speed and accuracy with which control centers are able to handle prescribed problems set up by the Eastern Area Civil Defense Headquarters at Ogontz Center, near Philadelphia.

All types of communications resources will be utilized, including personal messenger, telephone and short wave radio.

The local Civil Defense Headquarters, located in the Monroe County Court House, will be fully activated during the alert, officials said yesterday. However, they were careful to point out that the test will in no way affect the general public.

Sgt. Wills said Coles will report to Parris Island, S. C. for "boot" training, then will be promoted to Private First Class and given ten-days leave before further assignment.

Coles attended Stroudsburg High School and was a member of the Marine Corps Reserve unit in Dickson City, Pa.

Dr. Marshall Metzgar will be out of town Sunday, March 21 to Sunday, March 28.—Adv.

Record Closed On Western Union Merger Program

Washington (AP) — The Communications Commission yesterday closed the record in hearings on a move to get Western Union Telegraph Co. out of the international telegraph business.

Congress required the company to rid itself of its international telegraph operations as part of its approval of the merger of Western Union and Postal Telegraph, Inc.

The commission ordered hearings two years ago. About 12 million dollars worth of annual business is involved, experts estimated.

County Board Discusses New Study Guide

Monroe County School Board held its March meeting yesterday at the office of John C. Litts, county superintendent.

Purpose of the meeting was to discuss a "study guide" for cooperative education now being pressed by the State Department of Public Instruction.

A similar meeting, designed for school administrators, will be held on Thursday, April 1 at 1 p. m. in East Stroudsburg Junior High School, Litts said.

The guide sets up a series of three "purposes" for educational development in sections of the county. In general it tends to group districts together and think in terms of cooperative grouping.

McCarthy's About-face

Sen. McCarthy is insisting upon a right for himself that he has brusquely waved aside and refused for all others, time after time, in the 15 months he has dominated the Senate investigating subcommittee.

He wants the right, without any curbs, to cross-examine all witnesses in his "blackmail" and "liar" battle with the Army. He wants a full round of cross-examination on the part of all principals involved.

It is an abrupt about-face for the Wisconsin senator. McCarthy has gone out of his way to gavel down the slightest gesture of cross-examination in all of the earlier parade of witnesses and their counsel who have appeared before him. He has done it, on occasion, with iron-fisted vehemence.

This about-face raises an interesting question: If Sen. McCarthy believes this procedure is right, now that he himself is involved, why wasn't it right before?

Congressional precedent does not call for cross-examination, whether this is right or wrong. And cross-examination, as such, is not the major issue in procedure now being battled out.

The major issue is whether Sen. McCarthy can assume the all-encompassing roles of witness, defendant, prosecutor and judge at one and the same time.

"The thread of good American fair play" would dictate his removing himself completely from the subcommittee, other than as a witness, during the current investigation, Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall believes.

Other top Republican leaders and Democratic members of the subcommittee have spoke out in the same vein.

Wednesday the issue came before President Eisenhower. His comment:

"In America a man doesn't sit in judgment on his own case."

There is no doubt whatsoever that the McCarthy-Army inquiry should be completely impartial. It is impossible to see how this can be attained if McCarthy himself is an active participant.

Stinker Bills

(From The Pittsburgh Press)

Two top men on the House Immigration Subcommittee think there ought to be a full-dress investigation of "stinker bills."

These are the bills introduced in Congress which have the effect of handcuffing the Immigration Service in ridding the country of undesirable aliens.

Chairman Louis E. Graham, Beaver, Pa., and the ranking Democrat, Francis E. Walter, Easton, Pa., were aroused by the series of articles by Jack Steele, Scripps-Howard writer, recently published in The Pittsburgh Press.

The investigation is in order, if for no other reason than to discourage congressmen from taking part in this racket. By simply introducing a bill, any congressman has been able to stop deportation proceedings against any alien, regardless of how unsavory a record he may have.

Most of these congressmen now plead ignorance of the type of aliens they have been protecting. But on that basis the public is entitled to wonder how much these congressmen know—or care—about the legislation they vote on—if they can be so careless about special bills introduced by themselves.

For instance, Rep. Albert P. Morano, Republican of Connecticut, has a bill pending for the "relief" of an alien who got here as a stowaway in 1926. And was not caught until 1949 despite a long record of arrests for criminal offenses.

Congress has passed a new immigration law, one purpose of which is to tighten the blockade against undesirables. But it won't do much good if many congressmen show so little respect for their own responsibilities.

The Once Over

WATCH OUT BELOW!

We have just begun to receive verdicts from our Moscow spies on the first whisky ever produced in Russia and put on sale there with flourishes and ruffles. The made-in-Russia whisky was offered to the Soviet peoples with pamphlets giving the history of the drink, the details of its manufacture and an endorsement of its taste and effects. The first five candid reports to reach us follow:

Agent No. 1. — I tried one highball made with the Soviet whisky. Now I know how it feels to be shot down in a border incident.

Agent No. 2. — I went to a Russian cafe with two friends, knowing that testing the Soviet whisky was a job beyond the call of duty. I used one friend as a scout and the other as stretcher-bearer. I asked for a straight shot. The waiter poured it out. This is the first time I ever saw a GLASS CATCH FIRE!

Agent No. 3. — I asked for a Moscow rye on the rocks. Of course I was prepared to have my mouth burn, but was surprised to take one sip and see my wrist identification disk melt.

Agent No. 4. — Just tried a Malenkov Cocktail. I became a satellite state in two minutes, after taking a compulsory eight count. One drink and you're veloed.

Agent No. 5. — If the Russians attack with this whisky at Geneva we are sunk. Could be a new mystery weapon. Urge Eisenhower that in his "new look" we consider immediate retaliation with a double Martini.

Laugh of the Year is the New York State legislators' action in passing a bill for a Code of Ethics at almost the same time it crossed up the general public, knuckled down to the insurance lobbyists and played smelly politics by giving the green light and all-clear signal to the "Hit and Sneer Drivers." . . . Fancy talking about ethics and killing a law that would take the reckless, irresponsible potential killers off the highways where they are free to put everybody else in deadly peril and shrug off death and injury with a "So what?" . . . We suggest to the lawmakers of New York that they garnish the code of ethics with applesauce and serve it with baloney fritters . . . . Seventeen Republicans opposed the badly needed legislation against "Murder Unincorporated" and a large body of Democrats ganged up in a pact to make certain it had no chance . . . . Those boys wouldn't know a code of ethics if they saw it in 3-D and "Technicolor," say we . . . . Judging by the obvious fact that there is a lot of lying by one side or the other in that Washington probe, the big job will be to get a lie detector that can stand it . . . . Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the U. S. Supreme Court made a 184-mile hike recently . . . . Both feet dissenting? . . . We hear that President Eisenhower, recently found in a sandtrap breaking up all his old clubs, explained that he was just taking a "new look." . . . "Anniversary Waltz" is making 'em howl with laughter on the road and looks like a sure-fire roadway hit . . . . West Germany is going for TV sets in a big way . . . Crazy over "What's My LOAN?" perhaps . . . A Russian philosopher comes out abainst love at first sight in the Soviet Union . . . This can throw Cupid into a detention camp and require that Venus announce a five-year plan . . . . Ringling Brothers Circus is on in New York, which makes spring official regardless of the first robin . . . . Chrysler is out with a "dealer enterprise plan" which is the talk of automobile circles . . . . JERUSALEM, THE GOLDEN!

Robert S. Allen Reports

Drop In Tax Collections Poses Problem With Cuts

Washington — There has been an unexpected backstage development in the tense partisan battle over those two big tax - cutting bills.

This new factor is an unpublished report by the Internal Revenue Bureau disclosing a drop of more than $2,335,000,000 in tax collections in the first seven months of the current fiscal year.

The report also indicates that this foreboding loss in revenue will continue through the remainder of the year.

Two likely major consequences of this development are:

A deficit by June 30 that will be much greater than had been anticipated; possibly soaring as high as double previous estimates.

The wiping out of any chance of sidestepping Treasury Secretary Humphrey's demand for an increase in the $275,000,000,000 national debt limit. The House voted a $15,000,000,000 raise last summer, but the measure is still stalled in the Senate Finance Committee.

So far, only members of the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation have seen the IRB's alarming report. Whether it will be made public is problematical.

Republican committeemen favor doing that to counter Democratic proposals for greater tax reductions—and resulting increased loss in revenue to the government. Meanwhile, the report is causing grave concern in high Administration quarters.

Disquieting Details—Chief reasons for this anxiety are:

With only a few exceptions, every major tax category has experienced a loss in collections; in the case of corporation taxes the drop is nearly $2,500,000,000. In January alone, individual income taxes fell off $500,000,000.

"Distress warrants" for unpaid taxes are at an all-time high. So far the Revenue Bureau has issued 1,304,000 of these warrants for a total of $974,000,000 in unpaid taxes.

Touchy Question—The Senate Banking Committee is very carefully ducking a hot problem that has been laid in its lap.

This is a request by the Republic of Panama for permission to add a gambling casino to a hotel that was built with a $4,000,000 loan by the Export-Import Bank, a U.S. agency. Panama guaranteed $1,500,000 of this loan.

Since Hotel El Panama opened several years ago, it has operated in the red. The managers contend this is due to a provision of the loan which bars a gambling casino. So they want this restriction removed, and the Panamanian government argues that's the only hope of paying off the $4,000,000 loan.

During the winter, Senator Homer Capehart (R., Ind.) Banking Committee chairman, and other members visited Panama and were promptly besieged with pleas about the casino matter. He has sent a report to the Export-Import Bank, but studiously avoided taking any position on the explosive issue.

Result—Panama and the hotel are as much up in the air as before.

Following are highlights from Capehart's unpublished report:

"They are extremely dissatisfied with the condition which prohibits the hotel from renting a casino. The management pointed out that gambling is legal in Panama when conducted by the government. Panama has both a national lottery and gambling and horse races, both run by the government. Moreover, the government has a direct and indirect interest in the financial success of the hotel.

"At the time of the Committee's visit, the hotel was $130,000 in arrears in payments to the government which has invested in the hotel. Since its opening, the hotel has experienced a deficit of $942,000 and fears that will continue for years to come unless its revenue can be supplemented by a casino. It was the opinion of the hotel's management and government officials that operation of a casino would increase the occupancy rate considerably. It was also pointed out that the casino would be operated by the government itself and not the hotel, and that the benefit to the hotel would come from the rental received for the casino. They also stated that when the hotel was planned, it was expected that a casino would be run in conjunction with the hotel."

The Ladies—The two great rivals of Washington society are carrying their feuding into a new field. With Mrs. Perle Mesta, former Minister to Luxembourg, back in the Capital after an extensive lecture tour, Mrs. Gwen Cafritz has taken to the public forum. The raven-haired "queen of society" is giving talks on "How to Entertain." The late Interior Secretary Harold Ickes wasn't the only member of his family to keep a diary. It now develops that Mrs. Ickes also kept extensive notes on her experiences as the wife of a member of the Roosevelt cabinet. She discloses this in a chat with members of a congressional club. However, Mrs. Ickes reassuringly declared she does not intend to publish her memoirs as yet . . . Mrs. Thurman Chatham, wife of the North Carolina Representative, raises breathtaking camelias right in Washington. She is able to do that thanks to a green house on their estate in the historic Georgetown section of the Capital . . . Miss Mollie Makins, daughter of the British Ambassador, has a job at the International Bank, and goes to and from work every day on a Washington bus. She meticulously does not use one of the swank embassy limousines . . . Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, widow of Illinois Senator "Ham" Lewis, claims a unique distinction as a hostess. Says Mrs. Lewis, "I'm one of the few hostesses in Washington who gives parties only for friends. I never invite anyone I don't like, regardless of how important they are or think they are."

Egyptians have made mud brick houses for at least 6,000 years.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

If "New Look" Means Reassessment Of Military Units, Weapons It Is Good

New phrases are often introduced into the language to highlight an idea or to confuse the human mind. Franklin D. Roosevelt and his intimate staff were most inventive in such matters as, for instance, the phrase "New Deal" or "Quarrantine Speech," or "Martin, Barton and Fish."

The most recent of these phrases is "The New Look," which is applied to the defenses of the United States. It is designed to give the impression that the military have brought up something wholly different. Actually, this is a response to the changes that inevitably result from the invention of new means of warfare. Such changes have occurred since primitives threw stones at each other and then someone invented the slingshot, which became a weapon of war.

Since World War I, a tremendous advance has been made in weapons. The airplane and submarine were developed. Since then, the airplane has become the principal weapon of war, reducing the infantry so that the question even arises as to the utility, in the future, of this hitherto most important military organization. When a decision is made about that, the cost of the Army will be reduced and the number of young men inducted into military service will be cut drastically. A long-distance jet bomber, carrying Hellbombs, requires a very small crew compared to, let us say, a division of infantry.

In old-fashioned warfare, men faced eath other and fought for position. In Hellbomb warfare, planes will fly over areas to destroy them irrevocably. An area wiped out by a Hellbomb cannot be occupied. Similarly, such a submarine as "The Nautilus" is designed to do infinite damage with atomic weapons and to disappear swiftly. In the old days, navies faced each other and fought for position.

In the theory of warfare, there is nothing new in this. Clausewitz, the philosopher of war, discusses this subject as follows:

"What is the object of defense? To preserve. To preserve is easier than to gain; from which it follows at once that the means on both sides being supposed equal, defense is easier than attack. But wherein does the greater ease of preservation and protection lie? In this, that all time which elapses unused falls into the scale in favor of the defender. He reaps where he has not sown. Every intermission of the attack, either from erroneous views, from fear or from indolence, is in favor of the defender . . ."

The new weapons do not permit of preservation because they are conceived to achieve total destruction of an area. It does not matter whether the airplane is intercepted; if even for a moment before its own destruction it can let loose its weapon, the damage will be done. Retaliation can destroy as much or more than the enemy accomplishes, but in all cases destruction is total in the area.

Clausewitz further says:

"In tactics every engagement, great or small, is a defensive one if we leave the initiative to the enemy, and await his appearance on our front. From that moment on we can make use of all offensive means without losing the two advantages of defense mentioned above, namely, that of awaiting and that of the terrain. In strategy, first of all, the campaign takes the place of the battle, and the theater of war that of the position; then, later, the whole war takes the place of the campaign, and the whole country that of the theater of war, and in both cases the defensive remains what it was in tactics."

In the new type of warfare, there can be no real defense. Whoever attacks more swiftly and more fully has the advantage; defense is retaliation, but retaliation is not for position, it is for vengeful, total destruction.

This then raises the question of the usefulness of old organizations and ancient weapons. What function will infantry have in war? What will artillery do? What will large masses of drilled soldiers do? If "The New Look" means that a study of the new weapons forces us to reconsider the nature of ancient military organizations and ancient weapons, then it makes sense. If, on the other hand, it only means that we pile new weapons on obsolete ones, maintaining the cost of both, then it is not a "New Look," but a waste of the people's money.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

In the course of a conversation a friend of mine, whose monthly bills have been going up and up steadily, remarked that the old saying "Crime doesn't pay" is just so much hogwash.

"Every day you read about crooks becoming millionaires," he said. "Look at those race track scandals in New York State.

"Fellows who never invested a penny, made millions in trotting track stocks by tying up with a lot of bookmakers, cheap politicians, gamblers and gangsters.

"I buy a lot of printing for my firm, and many office supplies. If I wanted to be crooked, I could make a fortune by just accepting the bribes that are offered to me.

"I don't know whether I haven't the nerve to be a crook or whether I am just naturally honest. In either case I think I am a big fool. Crime, it seems, DOES pay."

I wonder. It is true, of course, that a lot of crimes go undetected. You see men whom you know to be grafters running around scot free and apparently living in the height of luxury and happiness.

Just go down to Miami at this time of the year and see the gamblers, bookmakers, cheap politicians and gangsters disporting themselves in the nightclubs and other expensive hangouts.

Apparently they haven't a care in the world. Apparently crime has been good to them. Apparently crookedness is big business just like steel, oil, railroading and the like.

But have you ever been with those fellows when they were all alone within their four walls and seen them when their CONSCIENCE called them to account?

Have you ever been there when suddenly, in the middle of the night, the phone rang or the door bell? To you and me those rings may not be of much consequence. A wrong number, a telegram or something like that. Unpleasant, perhaps, but not terrifying.

But to them—they never know when the long arm of the law is reaching out for them. They never know when a disgruntled gangster is going to shoot them dead or hold them up for their ill-gotten gains.

And, should they be caught and sent to prison, there are the long, long hours of futile regrets and self-accusations.

In St. Anne's Hospital in Chicago, Terry Druggan died the other day at 52 from a chronic heart ailment, and other complications.

"He died a toothless and penniless invalid," said the dispatch, "who had missed his chance for gangland's greatest glory, the sumptuous gangster funeral with silver casket and limousines filled with flowers."

During prohibition, Druggan was a millionaire. He worked for Al Capone as manager of seven of the Capone breweries. Then he started an illicit brewery of his own.

The government caught him and sent him to jail. There he bought most of the keepers. Even in jail he was the millionaire.

He conducted his business affairs from prison while lounging in purple silk pajamas on a box spring bed in his carpeted cell. In the evening, he stepped out dressed in a dinner jacket and made the rounds of the night clubs accompanied by one of his jailers.

The government nicked him for all he had, including his blooded racing stock. Eventually, he was so broke that he didn't even have the money to have his teeth fixed.

DOES crime pay? I wonder.

Does Coffee Get Weaker And Higher?

—by Leonard Randolph

Woman I talked with the other day out in Snydersville says she's solved this whole business about high coffee prices. How so? Very simple, says she. So simple, she's sorry that nobody else has thought of it. All you gotta do, she says, is make the coffee weaker. Where you once used a full, rounded tablespoon of grounds for one cup you should now use a tablespoon for every two or three cups.

The whole thing works out very well, says the Snydersville woman. There's only one trouble: the old man doesn't go for it in a big way. The "old man" in this case, of course, is the long-suffering husband, the guy who fattens the family budget (and his middle) 365 days per year. Seems as though the lady's husband is a Scotch-Irishman of the Scandinavian persuasion. He likes his coffee good and strong and black, in that order.

Last week, on the heels of his wife's latest economy move, the old man took a look at his coffee, put the cup down politely and said: What's with tea for breakfast? Oh, this isn't tea, says the wife. It's coffee, only I've found a new way to cut down on the cost.

It may be coffee to you but it's so weak I could read a mile of footnotes in the Webster's Unabridged through it, comes back the old man. There followed a lengthy, and according to a couple of neighbors, noisy discussion of the merits of making coffee like coffee and not like tea or tomato aspic or some other by-product of a civilized heresy.

Although I'm not one to mix in with other people's arguments (having plenty of my own) I'm a little inclined to go along with both parties in this case. The wife, in an attempt to show her disgust with the skyrocketing tab on the tin of coffee, takes the only route available: she tries to cut down on coffee consumption. The husband, on the other hand, argues that if coffee is worth having at all it is worth having only if well brewed. Being an ardent coffee hound since I've been old enough to sit up to a table and hold a mug, I dislike the idea of giving up strong coffee. But the woman tells me she's found another solution this week. Now she makes a full pot of thick, strong, hot coffee for the old man's breakfast. Then she makes weak coffee the rest of the day. It's a mild protest, but it may work.

Bikini Bomb Tests Lead To Warnings

By J. M. Roberts Jr.
Associated Press News Analyst

The latest Bikini bomb tests, with their revelation of sinister new power in the hydrogen bomb beyond the expectations of scientists, have led to a new spate of warnings that the world must do something about its tensions and disarmament.

Lord Salisbury, Britain's atomic energy chief, says efforts must be renewed to arrive at a "live and let live" arrangement with Russia.

Britain, with its population and industry concentrated in such a small area, is appalled by the fact that a few hydrogen bombs properly placed could actually wipe her out.

Jules Moch, who has been both defense and interior minister in postwar French cabinets, and Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) both came out on the same day advocating disarmament.

Moch's approach was primarily from the standpoint that there is a possibility now that Russia would also see the necessity, and that something could be done before France is forced to agree to German rearmament.

Moch is an opponent of the European Defense Community.

Speaking on the same program with Senator Flanders, Norman Cousins, president of the United World Federalists and editor of "The Saturday Review," and Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, urged disarmament in the face of total danger.

Insofar as recognition of the problem is concerned, these are not voices crying in the wilderness. Britain, particularly, has been aware of her position ever since the total differences between Russian and Western objectives became apparent six or seven years ago. Therefore, appeasement has played a constant role in British policy, as well as in France.

The United States has avoided that. But its policy has been directed at all times toward a situation in which Russia woud not make war even if she woud not make peace.

That produced rearmament, a search for a balance of power, in the absence of any method of disarmament which could be accepted by both sides.

Russian poicy has remained immutable. The only peace and the only disarmament she will accept must leave the doors open to extension of her power.

In this atmosphere, talk of "live and let live", and the disarmament, is somewhat analogous to the ex-officio agreements sometimes made between American police department and professional criminals. In these cases, some cities become asylums for crooks who are "lying low," provided they act strictly as vacationists while in town. The system leads ultimately to local connections between the police and crime, and has never worked.

The Russian heirarchy believes it cannot exist indefinitely in a capitalistic world that Communist control centered in Moscow is its only hope.

The West is just as sure that democracy is its only salvation, and that it cannot exist safely as long as the totalitarians can move without regard for morals, human dignity, or human life.

Disarmament can come only after elimination of this threat, never before.

SHS Grads Now In College Report Their Secondary English Instruction Sound

Stroudsburg High School graduates now attending college apparently think ratheg highly of their secondary school training in English.

To find out what graduates thought of the course, William Keim, head of the English department, planned and carried out a survey giving former students a chance to "sound off."

Out of 98 questionnaires mailed to the same number of graduates, Keim received 77 filled-out forms in return.

A good percentage of those 77 took advantage of the opportunity to add lengthy remarks of their own in addition to the "yes or no" questions printed on the sheet.

Tabulation of the forms is now being completed by Keim and other teachers of English on the faculty. They will provide a nucleus for discussion in staff meetings this year.

The form was a simple one. It listed two questions which gave students a choice between good or bad reactions to preparation in the English language as performed by the local school.

The first question was: "In general, do you feel that your courses in high school English were adequate preparation for college work?"

Of the 77 who answered, 60 students said "Yes"; 17 said "No."

Question number two asked students to criticize various aspects of their English training on the grounds of whether their training had been "sufficient" or "insufficient" in those categories.

These are the categories. A "yes" means the training was sufficient; "no" means the student considered his training not sufficient for college work.

Speech—46 yes; 26 no. Composition skills—45 yes; 30 no. Reading skills—45 yes; 25 no. Vocabulary—54 yes; 21 no. Technical grammer—43 yes; 32 no. Spelling—56 yes; 19 no. Literature—60 yes; 15 no.

A study of the survey reveals that a majority of the students apparently felt their high school English training was strongest in the fields of literature, spelling and vocabulary.

Possible weaknesses would seem to be reflected in the field of technical grammar and composition skills, taking only the percentage of students answering no or yes as a measure.

Several of the students—who returned personal comments with the questionnaire—indicate that an increase in speech instruction might be a definite asset to the high school course.

Nearly all the students, however, who made comments noted that the effectiveness of their high school training would vary with the college they choose.

Some colleges concentrate on grammatical instruction for freshmen; others place literary study in the first college year.

Typical comments on the forms—most of which were returned unsigned in accordance with the request of Keim — indicate the students feel assignment of more themes and added training in taking notes would be beneficial on entering college.

Several students commented on a need for further instruction in modern authors and dramatists.

Choral Concert Program At SHS Next Friday Will Be Vocal Review

Theme of the Stroudsburg High School choral concert this year will be "Something old; something new; something borrowed; something blue."

It's not an effort on the part of the singers to crowd the bride's slogan off the social calendar onto the school calendar, however.

In each of the categories the "something" will be a song. According to vocal music director Numa Snyder, all the "somethings" add up to the most ambitious program undertaken by the department thus far.

When the concert begins at 8 p. m. on Friday, April 2, local residents will hear an integrated vocal review of some of their past favorites, some little heard folk songs and a couple of currently popular numbers which had their roots in an opera by Alexander Borodin.

The "pop" tunes will be "Stranger in Paradise" and a vocal adaptation of the "Polovetzian Maidens." Both were originally part of the opera "Prince Igor" by Borodin; both have since been "modernized" as part of the Broadway musical "Kismet."

Most ambitious number on the program will be a vocal interpretation of George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" with piano solo by Ruth Fetherman. The arrangement for chorus and piano has been made by Clay Warnick, chofal arranger on the Sid Caesar television show.

A full listing of selections to be heard on the program will be published next week.

Adult tickets are now being sold by chorus members. Student tickets may be bought at the door.

Art Confab Is Arranged

A State-wide art conference for all art teachers, supervisors and grade school art instructors will be held May 8 at Camp Curtis Junior High School in Harrisburg.

Theme of the conference is "Better Art Education For Pennsylvania's Children," according to George T. Miller, chief of art education in the State.

Supreme Court New Ruling On Compensation

Pittsburgh (AP)— The State Supreme Court handed down a decision yesterday that may pave the way for disposition of hundreds of workmen's compensation cases.

The order reversed a State Superior Court ruling and instructed the Medical Board of the State Workmen's Compensation Board to make these changes in its procedure:

Take testimony in controversial workmen's compensation cases rather than just reviewing previous testimony.

Give weight to loss of earning power as well as to physical condition in determining whether a person is totally disabled.

In its decision, the high court said that the medical board followed the wrong procedure in handing an application for compensation by three Luzerne County coal miners.

The court ordered the case sent back to the Workmen's compensation Board for disposition in accordance with the procedure outlined by the court.

The miners had applied for compensation on grounds they were totally disabled because of anthraco-silicosis a lung ailment caused by coal dust.

Justice Michael A. Musmanno, who wrote the Supreme Court opinion, told a newsman that there are several hundred other pending compensation cases based on the anthraco-silicosis ailment.

He said they had not been disposed of because the state was awaiting the decision in the Luzerne County case.

The case got under way 6½ years ago when the miners, Casper Unora, John Kalena and the late Frank Drozd, applied for compensation on ground they were suffering from anthraco-silicosis.

The case followed a long chain of litigation. It was handled by the Workmen's Compensation Board, the Medical Board, Luzerne County Common Pleas Court, Superior Court and finally Supreme Court.

The controversy hinged on the question of whether the miners were totally disabled or only partially disabled. The law specified they were entitled to compensation only if totally disabled.

The first testimony in the case showed that in the opinion of three doctors the miners weer totally disabled, entitling them to compensation. But the medical board reviewed that testimony and concluded the men were only partly disabled, making them ineligible for compensation.

It was by merely reviewing previous testimony that the medical board, failed in its duty, the Supreme Court said. The court said that by only reviewing previous testimony the board failed to "hear" the case as required by law.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Baker and Mrs. John Jennings Jr. drove to Philadelphia last Wednesday where Mr. Baker served as pallbearer at the funeral of his aunt, Mrs. Ada Bailey.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Harrison and daughter Jane, of Allentown, were here Sunday to visit the H & B Diner of which Mr. Harrison is one of the partners. Mrs. Clyde Brown and Miss Clyda Brown, of Cape May, N. J., were also here Sunday to visit Clyde Brown, the other partner.

Mrs. Clyde Jewel, of Bangor, was a caller Monday night at the home of Mrs. Harvey Rotzel, where Mrs. Florence Davis, of Stroudsburg, is spending each night during Mr. Rotzel's absence for treatments at the General Hospital.

Mrs. Catherine McCauley and Miss Beatrice Funk are employed as waitresses at the local diner. Sunday, during Miss Funk's absence, Miss Evelyn Widdoss served as second waitress.

James Howard and Michael Martin were ushers for the morning service Sunday in the Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Richard Hauser was soloist for the senior choir. Chicken-pox played havoc with attendance of the junior choir, leaving only five girls and one boy to serve so their anthem was not sung.

It wasn't only many of the firemen who thought Sunday night's fire signal was a radio signal for an air-raid program. Many people made the same mistake, for someone had turned on the siren and left it giving one long, low steady signal. It fitted in perfectly with radio and tv programs being heard then. Jimmy Shellenberger ran to fire hall and changed the siren to its regular fire call. Firemen were able to get out in time to save a burning truck along Rt. 611 near the former Kittatinny site.

Mrs. Morris Metzgar, of Cherry Valley, has been shut in two weeks with pneumonia, but is reported recovering. Mrs. Metzgar is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Baker.

That appearances can be deceiving is proven by the flower bed of John Bedford. Since it has had its winter covering of leaves removed it presents a gay yellow and green beauty, similar to its appearance when the daffodils are in bloom. The brilliant yellow is the tips of the leaves which stay that hue while the weather is severely cold.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Spring is a silly season. Fads and fancies seem to spread more rapidly than at any other time of the year. It may be that spring air is a better conductor of ideas; maybe brain waves like electricity get short-circuited when it's damp; maybe the human mind, like fresh-ploughed ground, is more receptive to sprouting seeds in the Spring.

Whatever the cause, the results are quite evident. Several girls decide to wear old-fashioned middy blouses to school yesterday, and half an hour after school was out, the supply of middy blouses which had remained undisturbed for umpteen years was suddenly exhausted.

One boy comes to school with a yo-yo and before the noon hour is over, yo-yos are filling the air thick as snow-flakes — except this year yo-yos come in those fluorescent colors that knock your eye out even if you're fortunate not to get an actual yoyo in your eye. (Note: Never stand too close to watch "around the world sleeping").

While the teen-age crowd is particularly susceptible to fads, keep an eye on their mothers, too. Wait till you see what they pick out of the hat bar.

And mind when you sit down that it's not on a fish-hook that the fisherman in the family has been tieing a fly on.

But whackiest of all in this whacky season is the housewife who seems to think that once the furniture is in the middle of the room that housecleaning has really started.

Kiwanis Fashion Show To Star Cornelia S. Gillam, Betty Green, Local Models

The Kiwanis Fashion Show committee is drawing on a wide range of talent, both local and out-of-town, to make the show, planned for Friday night, April 9, at 8 o'clock at Stroudsburg High School auditorium, one of the outstanding events of the year.

Betty Green,who "covered" the Paris openings this spring for The Daily Record, will be the fashion commentator; the fashions, including those imported from Paris for the show, will be modeled by local women representing the service clubs and schools of the community, and, as a special attraction, Cornelia Stabler Gillam will present a number of dramatic monologues which she has never given in this section before.

Mrs. Green has worked closely with the American Fashion market for many years. For 12 years she was fashion editor of Parents' Magazine, and of a teen-age magazine, "Calling All Girls," which won her the Josephine Snapp national award given annually to the five women who have contributed most to advertising and promotion.

For the past five years she has been fashion accelerator for the Independent Retailers Syndicate which serves top stores throughout the country, and keeps the member stores alert to the new trends.

Mrs. Gillam, wife of Clifford R. Gillam, of Buck Hill Inn, is known throughout the country for her original dramatic monologues. She has traveled abroad with the USO, and gave a request performance at the White House. This winter she made several cross-country tours, giving her dramatic impersonations before large audiences.

In Monroe County, she is director of the Buck Hill Players, serves as president of the Barrett Woman's Club, and is a favorite star of the "important" club programs of the year.

The forty models are those recommended by service clubs of the community with two representing each club, plus two students each from Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Tickets for the Kiwanis Fashion Show, which is for the benefit of the Y.M.C.A. building fund, may be obtained from any member of the club.

Venezuela Theme Of Aux. Meeting

Venezuela, "the Little Venus", was described in detail at the meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church held Wednesday night in the social rooms by Mrs. John Sinclair, whose son and his family are in the mission field there.

Mrs. Sinclair who visited them there some time ago, began with their preparations for the trip, the formalities of entering a foreign country, and the different languages, homes, and food which they found there. The houses, she said, are built on stilts, the climate is warm with heavy rainy seasons, tropical flowers and fruit abound, and it is rich in oil and iron.

The people she found friendly, slo wof action, and varying in tones of corn, expressed there as coffee and milk.

She described the training needed by a missionary who must be well-grounded in the Bible, and also in foreign languages which in Venezuela includes both Spanish and Portugese. She said that the gift they brought of the Word of God to the spiritual pure was reflected in the faces of the converts.

She had on display, the marcas, made of calabash with canna seeds inside, which are used to accompany singers, a Jamaica doll, and pictures of the buildings and homes. She was introduced by Mrs. Elwood Grant.

Devotions were presented by Mrs. Thomas Breitwieser, and Mrs. Horace G. Walters presided at the business session. Mrs. Wilbur Pope was welcomed as a new member. Reports were given by the circle leaders, and by Mrs. Milo Singer, secretary for national missions and overseas hospital sewing.

Mrs. Nathan G. Meyer, secretary of social education and action, read an invitation to the meeting on "Delinquency and Local Children" which will be held in the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church on April 24.

Hostesses were the Esther Circle. The tea table was a spring flower arrangement by Mrs. Jack Wyckoff and Mrs. Herbert Rupprecht. Mrs. Walters and Mrs. Charles Stagg poured.

Penny Supper Friday

A penny supper, open to the public, will be served on Friday night from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Masonic Hall, Washington and South Courtland Sts., East Stroudsburg by the Monroe Chapter, No. 99, Order of Eastern Star.

Altar, Rosary Society Has Talk On Mass

The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church heard Rev. Edward Galligan of Mount Pocono explain the vessels and vestments used at Mass and the Sacrifice of the Mass at their meeting held on Wednesday night in the school auditorium.

The vestments, he explained, were similar to those worn by the early Romans. The Amice is the headcovering; the alb a flowing, full-sleeved tunic; and the cincture or chord which is used to gird up the long flowing alb.

He said that the Mass could be divided into five distinct sections: "I pray, I listen, I offer, I admire, I receive," and suggested ways in which the participants could best take part.

Sunday, March 28, will be Communion Sunday for the Society and all members were urged to attend. He was introduced by Mrs. Fred Lipe Jr., program chairman.

Mrs. Theodore Viechnicki, president, was in charge of the meeting and was opened by a prayer by Rev. Francis Barrett, who also complimented the society on their work on membership, which now numbers 318.

A bread and cake sale was planned with the date to be announced soon. Mrs. William Lopez was named chairman of the annual May dinner. Mrs. Arthur Henning, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate which will be voted upon at the April meetig.

The ways and means chairman, Mrs. Albert Scavo, contributed a religious picture given to Mrs. Charles Resh.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

It's impossible to walk through our lingerie department and see all the pretty robes, frilly nightgowns, and lacy under-garments without thinking of June and weddings. One of the loveliest ensembles of the new season is the shorty nightgown of white nylon tricot with its matching short coat, delicately trimmed in pink with buttons of pearl. The price is $16.98 and the set comes in sizes 32 to 38.

Another exquisite gift for the bride-to-be would be the blue nightie—also a shortie—at $5.98 with puffed sleeves and very feminine ruffle and lace trim.

As for bed jackets—we have those too, as beautiful to the eye as the frosting on a wedding cake. One that I particularly fancy is of Dupont nylon tricot in a bon bon pink with a yoke embroidered in shades of pink and green. Lace edges the three-quarter sleeves. This is $7.98, and is just the thing for you if you're pretty as a picture and as blooming as a rose!

* * *

Summer white jewelry catches one's eye as she walks past the jewelry department these days and you are reminded that absolutely nothing would look smarter with your navy blue suit or dress in the Easter parade. There are all types of necklaces, and earrings in both button and drop styles, at 79c each. One dangly eardrop is brightened by rhinestones for added glamour . . . Another particularly attractive anniversary special from the jewelry department is the pearl. We can offer it in almost any size or shape. And if you like the baroque pearl, we have that too—heavy, rich looking, and amazingly low in price . . .

I told you a few days ago, I believe, about the wonderfully exciting "Cologne Foam" recently added to the Rubinstein toiletry line. Believe it or not, the White Magnolia rubbed into my arm at four o'clock in the afternoon still lingered, ever so delicately, at bath-time the following morning. Try it yourself, and see if you don't agree that it's delightfully lasting . . . Our cosmetic department also offers the Purse Pouchette by Houbigant—a dainty way of carrying your favorite perfume in your handbag. This "parfume pour le sac" comes in two fragrances — Lily of the Valley and Violet at $2.75. And for goodness sae, do try one! . . . Another aid to good grooming is the Flex hair brush, the bristles of which are set into a jointed back that actually bends with the scalp as it is brushed over the hair. This comes in the military and handled styles, and is designed to tone your scalp as it grooms your hair. (Having started this column with a bride, I just knew we'd stumble on a groom somewhere around.) Anyway these brushes are wonderful, according to our customers who use them and the manufacturer. Whether or not they're as effective as the old-fashioned type for disciplinary measures, I wouldn't know. No one has mentioned that . . . Now, in parting, just a word about the new shipment of china from Portugal that arrived late yesterday. You'll find it displayed prominently in our gift department, we're that proud! We have massive pitchers that would be grand for bouquets; salad bowls that would be wonderful for flower arrangements; unusual relish trays, and big platters, both round and oval, that are out of this world. Soft, delightful colors are handpainted under the glaze to make these truly lovely, proud possessions. And those ash trays, from Italy! I mentioned them on the air yesterday—remember? of deep, vibrant red, they are heavily flecked with gold and brilliant colors shining clearly through the glaze. Important importations these!

Moscow Paper Charges Four With Spying

Moscow (AP) — A Moscow newspaper yesterday depicted as spies four Americans on the U. S. embassy's military staff. The trade union organ Trud accused them of snooping into key Soviet installations while traveling by trans-Siberian train from Moscow to Vladivostok six months ago.

The charges—which have not appeared yet in any other paper here—caused a flurry in Moscow's Western diplomatic colony. The U. S. embassy maintained silence, confirming only that the four men had made the 6,000-mile train trip to Vladivostok last September.

The paper named the four as Lt. Col. Howard L. Felchlin, Maj. Walter McKinney, Maj. Martin J. Manhoff and S. Sgt. Eugean Williams.

Felchlin declared he did not think the Trud charges were worth commenting on because "you know black is white."

McKinney was away from Moscow on leave. The remaining two echoed what embassy counsellor Elim O'Shaughnessy had said.

"We have no comment to make."

Trud claimed military intelligence reports on Soviet airfields and other important installations had been found by the chief conductor in the railroad compartment occupied by the four.

The charges displayed under a two-column heading on Trud's foreign news page—were made in the form of a letter to the editor from Soviet employes of the trans-Siberian line. The letter was headlined "Abused Hospitality."

It was signed by trainman G. Harin, who wrote that conductor Mikhail Belousov told him that after the train pulled out of Moscow the four Americans were "behaving strangely, not to say suspiciously."

Belousov was quoted as saying he saw one American take rapid notes when a freight passed with tractors, metal, coal and timber aboard and that the group later took photographs of an airfield and gasoline dump.

Trud also published what it said were photographic copies of the Americans' papers, commenting:

"If the above-mentioned persons would like to get back their documents, which evidently were forgotten in the rush, they can do so by calling at the porter's office."

COL. JOHN L. LEIDENHEIMER, Chief, Distribution Branch, Office of the Chief Signal Officer, and Col. Herbert L. Scofield, Deputy for Stock Control, Signal Corps Supply Agency, Philadelphia, visited the Tobyhanna Signal Depot to make a brief inspection and to confer with depot officials. Scranton Man Under Grand Jury Inquiry Regarding Testimony Before Senate Group

Washington (AP)—A grand jury here is looking into the question of whether James Mack swore falsely in testimony before Senate crime investigators.

This was disclosed yesterday in papers filed in U. S. District Court by the Justice Department.

The Justice Department said Mack testified before the crime investigators Aug. 7, 1951 and that he was from Scranton, Pa., but the department declined further comment.

The papers filed in court authorized Atty. Michael F. Burke of the Justice Department to conduct "any" kind of legal proceedings, civil or criminal" in connection with the case.

The papers said the Justice Department has been informed that "James Mack and various other persons to the department unknown have violated in the District of Columbia and in other judicial districts Section 1621 to Title 18 of the U. S. Code by committing perjury."

The papers added that the department also had information that the same persons may have conspired to commit other offenses or to defraud the United States.

The language indicated that the Justice Department may be giving a final going over of testimony before the crime investigators to determine whether any prosecutions should be brought.

ESSTC Baseball Squad Preparing For Opening Encounter

Youth To Blend With Veteran Talent

George Ockershausen is currently hard at work rounding his East Stroudsburg State Teachers College baseball team into condition for the opening game of the season on Saturday, April 3, with Trenton Teachers providing the opposition on the Normal Hill field.

With opening day slightly more than a week away, the Warriors are being drilled every possible moment to ready the club for the first of 13 games to be played this season.

Ockershausen is currently trying to blend a mixture of veteran material and newcomers into a strong unit that will be called upon to face a tough schedule.

Bob Hartman, hard hitting first baseman, will be back at his usual stand and smooth operating Kyle Krall will again campaign at the shortstop post. Carmen Martucci, former Lehighton High star, appears to have the call at third base, although Jack Newell is still very much in the battle for the hot corner job. Newell is a former baseball and basketball star at Stroudsburg High.

Charley Shaw is leading the fight for second base at the present time, but is receiving competion from Larry Thomashefski, and freshmen Dave Smith and John Powers.

Catchers

Don Bachtel, well known in both soccer and baseball circles, is virtually assured of the first string catching duties, while Wilfred Berger, Guida DiTorrice and Fred Gibbons battle for the number two job.

Art Schaare will be in left field on opening day and Norman Antoine will be in center. Both are returning lettermen from last season. Right field will be patrolled by a pitcher not being used on the mound in any given game.

There are 11 pitchers currently battling to stay on the squad. Jim Passaro, hard working right hander, is leading the list. Passaro may also appear in the outfield. Tom Foley, East Stroudsburg native, is another of the highly regarded right handed hurlers, who will also sun at first base.

Other right handed hurlers drawing notice at the present time are Bill Cramp, Ronnie Bellows, Stan Buteavage, John Lea, Dennis Roth, Joel Tyreman and Don Heffner.

Ray Kaseman is leading the southpaw pitching department along with Byrd Stoudt and Harry Steevers, Stoudt is also expected to see plenty of action in the outfield, while Roth may also be carried as a reserve infielder.

Ockershausen will be able to carry only 16 players on road trips and faces another pruning task before opening day. The present squad has been reduced from 55 candidates that reported for the initial drill of the current spring campaign.

Musial Leads Cards To Victory

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP) — Stan Musial led the attack on three Brooklyn pitchers and scored both Cardinal runs as St. Louis beat the Dodgers 2-1 yesterday.

Runs

Musial, who made three hits, scored on an infield out in the fourth after Ray Jablonski's single had put him on third base. He made the winning run on Tom Burgess' hit in the sixth.

Toronto Trips Detroit

Detroit (AP)—Little Gordie Hannigan, a 160-pound left winger who played only half the season, scored two goals and the Toronto Maple Leafs skated at a furious pace to surprise the Detroit Red Wings, 3-1, last night and even their Stanley Cup series at one game apiece.

Irish Horses Draw Attention

Aintree, England (AP) — Irish horses seemed to hold the upper hand yesterday as the field gathered for the 108th Grand National Steeplechase over Aintree's treacherous race course.

Still Remaining

Eight Irish jumpers are included on the list of 29 still remaining in the race over 30 of the stiffest obstacles in the world, on a course that winds four miles and 856 yards.

Coneyburrow, a fast starter, bold jumper and slow finisher owned by I. E. Levy and bred in Ireland remained the 15-2 favorite as Aintree's spring meeting opened in the rain yesterday.

Winter Book Favorite Lifted From Starting Field Of Derby

By John Chandler

New York (AP) — Turn-to, Harry F. Guggenheim's winter book favorite to win the Kentucky Derby, was withdrawn from the three-year-old classic yesterday and probably never will run again.

Turn-to suffered a bowed tendon training at Keenland Wednesday.

Guggenheim said it was too early to decide just what course of action he would follow, but commented:

"I've never had luck with horses with bowed tendons."

Guggenheim, owner of the Cain Hoy Stable, hinted Turn-to, who has been training in Kentucky since March 13, would be retired.

The three-year-old Irish import, winner of the $100,000 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah February 27 and the $269,000 Garden State Stakes world's richest horse race has been training in Kentucky since March 13. The colt won the Garden State last fall as a two-year old.

Victory

The Cain Hoy Stable won the 1953 Derby when Dark Star beat Native Dancer in one of racing's greatest upsets.

Guggenheim issued a brief statement here after receiving word of the injury from his trainer, Eddie Hayward, at Keeneland Race Course, Lexington, Ky.

Ironically, Dark Star bowed a tendon in the Preakness Stakes at Baltimore after the Derby last spring and was immediately retired to the stud. Guggenheim did not say how serious was the injury to Turn-to and how long he might be out of action.

Senators Blast White Sox, 9-2

Tampa, Fla. (AP) — Lefty Billy Pierce, Chicago White Sox ace, was thumped for six runs in the second and chased in the fourth as the Washington Senators trounced the Pale Hose, 9-2, yesterday.

Winners

Connie Marrero, stocky Cuban righthander, pitched the first six innings for Washington, yielding four singles to get the triumph over the Sox whom he whipped three out of four times last season.

Three of Chicago's six blows were by ex-Senator Cass Michaels.

Pitt Adds To Coaching Staff

Pittsburgh (AP) — Bill Bevan, former University of Minnesota lineman, yesterday joined the University of Pittsburgh football coaching staff.

Line Mentor

Bevan, a resident of Chicago City, near St. Paul, Minn., will help with the line. elf was line coach under Pitt's present head coach, Lowell Dawson, at Tulane from 1936-40.

New Fears For Offense

Chicago (AP) — Greater responsibility in charging-blocking fouls will be placed on the offense in the 1954-55 basketball season, a National Rules Committee official said yesterday.

H. V. Porter, secretary of the National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada, said his group meeting at Kansas City last weekend including a rewrite of the blocking-charging rule in the code for the next season.

Judgement

"The decision on such fouls still will be a matter of officials' judgment," he said, "but the rule will emphasize the fact it quite often is the responsibility of the offensive player to avoid contact with the defensive man."

Porter said this applies especially to cases where a dribbler may be driving in for a shot and the defensive man has definitely established his guarding position.

Wilkinson Earns Easy Decision

Newark, N. J. (AP) — Coffee Joe Wilkinson, 124, Washington, D. C., won an easy decision over Baby Beau Jack, 124, New York, in the feature eight-round bout at Laurel Garden last night.

Scoring

Referee Allie Tedesco gave the first and fourth to Jack, called the third even, and awarded the other rounds to Wilkinson.

Penn-Dell, Barbers Win Final Games

Penn-Dell Dairy and Frank's Barbers rounded out the YMCA League basketball schedule with victories at Stroudsburg High school last night.

It took Penn-Dell two overtime periods to edge Biggs' Restaurant, 60-58, while the Barbers just managed to outlast Worthington Mower, 49-47, as the circuit closed out its action for the season.

Penn-Dell and Biggs' club locked up in a thrilling battle that found the Restaurant eagers coming up with a 74-8 edge in the final period to deadlock the score at 51-all at the end of regulation play. Each team scored seven points in the first overtime, but a 2-0 edge in the second extra period enabled Penn-Dell to win.

Frank's Barbers held a 22-15 lead at halftime, but Worthington Mower rallied in the third period to trail by a narrow 34-32 margin going into the final quarter. Each team scored 15 points in the last period and the Barbers maintained a two-point winning margin.

Tom Carmella, coach of the Barbers, received the championship trophy at the end of the game. The Barbers won both the first and second half titles during the season.

Montreal Flash Sets Hockey Mark

Montreal (AP) — Dickie Moore set a Stanley Cup scoring record for a single playoff game last night when he picked up six points as the Montreal Canadians walloped the Boston Bruins 8-1 to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven semi-final series.

Five Points

The previous record of five points was held jointly by the Canadians' Maurice Richard and "Toe" Blake, Eddie Bush of Detroit and Don Metzgar of Toronto.

Reds Outlast Tigers, 13-11

Lakeland, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs slugged righthander Ralph Branca for three home runs —one of them a grand slammer by "Hobie" Landrith — to outlast the Detroit Tigers, 13-11, yesterday.

Big Blows

Working the first five innings, the former Brooklyn hurler was combed for seven runs. In addition to Landrith, Wally Post and pitcher Harry Perkowski hit home runs off Branca.

Former CCNY Court Coach Appeals To State Education Commissioner To Block Ouster Rule

Albany, N. Y. (AP) — Basketball Coach Nat Holman, suspended after the "fix" scandals in New York City, yesterday asked the state education commissioner to block an order ousting him from the faculty of the City College of New York.

Holman appealed from a New York City Board of Higher Education order that would require he be dismissed if he did not retire from his $9,000-a-year post by April 2. He would be eligible for a pension upon retirement.

The 56-year-old coach, an associate professor in CCNY's Hygiene Department, was suspended November 18, 1952, in the wake of an investigation of betting on college basketball games at Madison Square Garden.

Seven members of Holman's team—the first to win both the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the National Invitation Tournament championships—were arrested on criminal charges of accepting bribes from gamblers to keep scores down.

Departmental charges of neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming a teacher were filed against Holman. He was accused of having failed to warn his superiors of the dangers of playing big-time basketball in the Garden and of having given false testimony during an inquiry into the scandals.

Holman denied the charges.

Last February 25, two members of a three-member trial committee of the Board of Higher Education recommended that all the charges against Holman be dropped. The third member dissented.

The full board on March 3 overrode the majority report and ordered Holman ousted.

Ohio State Star Sets Swim Record

Syracuse, N. Y. (AP) — Ohio State's rapid Ford Konno last night posted a new NCAA record for the 1500-meter freestyle as he easily took the event opening the 31st annual National Collegiate swimming championships.

Konno, an Olympic champion, swam the distance over a 25-meter course in 18:14.4 to better his own NCAA meet record of 18:15.5 set at Princeton two years ago.

Big Lead

He finished the event about 60 meters in front of Springfield's Bill Yorzyk who was caught in 18:57.

Konno, 20-year-old from Honolulu, also holds the intercollegiate record of 18:11.5, set at East Lansing, Mich., in March, 1952. But his time last night actually was better than the intercollegiate record time which was posted over a 25-yard course instead of the longer 25 meters used here.

He also will compete today in the 220 freestyle and tomorrow in the 440, which he has won before.

Phillies Win Wild Contest

Bradentown, Fla. (AP) — A 15-run ninth inning slugfest broke up a tie ball game yesterday with the Philadelphia Phillies beating the Milwaukee Braves, 16-13, in the Grapefruit League season's final exhibition here.

Two Homers

Del Ennis blasted two home runs.

Ehlers Denies Reported Deal

Thomasville, Ga. (AP) — Art Ehlers, general manager of the Baltimore Orioles, yesterday denied a report that first baseman Dick Kryhoski had been slated to go to Cleveland in a six-player deal before Kryhoski fractured his wrist.

Kryhoski said Wednesday one of the reasons the Orioles bought Eddie Waitkus from the Philadelphia Phils was because he (Kryhoski) was ticketed for Cleveland.

Understanding

He said he understood he and catcher Clint Courtney were to be traded to the Indians for Dale Mitchell, Bob Kennedy, Al Smith and Dave Pope.

Orioles Shade Giants

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles made the most of three New York errors to defeat the Giants 3-1 yesterday in a game cut to six innings because of rain.

Dorshimer Selected To Pilot West End In Mountains League

Effort—Luther Dorshimer, veteran baseball enthusiast of this area, last night was named to manage the West End entry in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League for the coming campaign. The selection was made during a meeting here at the Pohopoko Hotel.

Members of the team were agreed that this season's pilot should be a non-playing member of the squad and the vote for Dorshimer was unanimous.

Harry Possinger, baseball and basketball star at Chestnuthill High, was selected as assistant manager of the organization.

Large Turnout

A total of 20 team officials and players were present at the meeting and 14 players signed contracts for the 1954 season.

Frank Wernet, president of the club, was in charge of last night's meeting. Other officials present were John Wernett, vice president; Ed Doney, secretary, and Art Shafer, treasurer.

Another meeting has been called by the team for Monday, April 5, again at the Pohopoko Hotel.

West End A. C. is sponsored by the West End Memorial American Legion Post.

Besecker's Diner To Hold Practice

Al Besecker's Softball team will hold its initial practice of the campaign on Sunday, at 2 p.m., according to an announcement made last night by Carl Strunk, club manager.

Open Drill

The Monroe County Softball League entry will drill on the Tru-Matic field. Anyone interested in playing with the team is asked to be on hand for the drill.

Schiavone Named Pilot Of Roseto

Roseto Dave "Doc" Schiavone, highly reparded southpaw pitcher, last night was named manager of the Roseto club of the Blue Mountain Baseball League. The appointment took place during the course of a business session here at the Marconi Club.

Schiavone, who served as a player-coach with Roseto last season, graduated from Bangor High in 1947, the year the Slaters won the Lehigh-Northampton League baseball championship and were runnerup in the District 11 playoffs.

Pro Experience

The southpaw hurler, one of the top pitchers in the Blue Mountain League last season, was in the service and had a fling at professional ball with Bangor, when the class "D" North Atlantic League was still in operation.

Schiavone is a veteran campaigner with Roseto. The new manager has issued a call for candidates. All those wishing to play with Roseto this season are asked to be present at the Marconi Club on Sunday, at 11 a.m.

Braves Still Feature Pennant Fever Despite Crushing Loss Of Thomson, Pitching Strength

Editor's Note—This is the fourth in a series of training camp articles that will appear from time to time before the opening of the regular major league season pennant race.

Bradenton, Fla. (AP) — Bobby Thomson's ankle fracture was a crushing blow to the mounting pennant fever in the camp of the Milwaukee Braves.

Stunned by the loss of their new outfielder, who cost four players and a reported $100,000, the Braves must lower their sights—hoping to stay close to the pace until Thomson returns to the lineup.

Nobody can say for sure when Thomson will be able to play again after his unfortunate accident at St. Petersburg. First estimates were "six to eight weeks" but some fear he may not be back until June.

Reasoning

"We'll just have to do the best we can," said Manager Charlie Grimm. "Fortunately we have some solid secon dline strength."

Andy Pafko has moved into the cleanup spot vacated by Thomson, shifting from right to left field. Fleet Billy Bruton is the centerfielder with Henry Aaron, a 20-year-old Negro who led the Sally League with .362 at Jacksonville, getting a shot at the right field job. Eventually Jim Pendleton, who reported late and was slow getting into condition, may take over.

Grimm also is taking a good look at Dick Sinovic, who hit .342 and 23 homers at Atlanta and Billy Queen, a .281 batter with Toledo's pennant winners in the American Association.

Lou Perini, owner of the Braves, found one bright spot in the clouds. "Who knows, it may be an omen," he said. "The last time we lost a key man with a broken leg (Eddie Stanky in 1948) we won the pennant."

Grimm's main problem, until the Thomson accident, was to fit Danny O'Connell into the lineup Jack Dittmer, who did a fine job at second last season, is still around. He and O'Connell have been alternating in the exhibitions.

Double Play

Although O'Connell played about 50 games at second with the Pirates, he is a third baseman by trade. Learning the trick of making the double play has been Danny's spring work. As he puts it, "I didn't come to sit on the bench."

Eddie Mathews is the "big" hitter on the club. The third-baseman hit 47 homers to lead both majors last season, and drove in 135 runs.

The infield is set, except at second, with Joe Adcock on first, Logan at short and Mathews on third. George Metkovich is available for first or outfield relief and Sibby Sisti for the infield.

To get Thomson and O'Connell, Grimm weakened his pitching staff.

Phillipsburg Battles Newton In Nightcap

Oxford, N. J.—The Daily Record, last basketball team representing Monroe County, will clash with the host Oxford Lions in the first of two semi-final round games in the Oxford Lions Invitation Tournament here at Center School today.

The Daily Record and the Lions will open today's doubleheader at 7 p.m., while the Phillipsburg Knights and Newton battle in the nightcap, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Final round activity is listed for the same court tomorrow night.

The Record won a forfeit victory over I. B. Miller Builders in the opening round of the tournament and then came back to dispose of Pen Argyl, defending champion, in the quarter-final round.

Oxford Lions, seeded second in pre-tournament planning, will present a tough obstacle for the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg contingent. Oxford took the measure of Hackettstown in the quarter-final round.

Second Straight

Tonight's game will be the second straight contest in which The Daily Record contingent has been called upon to face seeded opposition. Pen Argyl was seeded first prior to the opening game.

Phillipsburg and Newton, both seeded clubs, will show plenty of power in the nightcap, as the two New Jersey foes clash head on in what may amount to one of the best games of the tournament. Newton was seeded third in the pre-tournament setup, while Phillipsburg is the fourth seeded contingent.

The winners of tonight's game clash in the championship contest tomorrow, while tonight's losers battle for third and fourth place in the preliminary portion of tomorrow's doubleheader.

Ban Lifted On Fighting

Fort Worth, Tex. (AP) — The boys can fight all they want to in the Big State League this season.

President Howard Green said yesterday the umpires have been instructed to let the players "fight it out" during the 1954 season and that the players are not to be ejected from the game simply for fighting.

Orders

"When and if any fights do start, the umpires are to stand by as spectators and not take on the duties of a referee," Green said.

"We hope that the younger players who will be dotting league rosters during the impending season will show a lot of spirit."

East Stroudsburg Teachers To Present Annual Physical Education Gym Demonstration

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College will present its annual Department of Health and Physical Education demonstration of gymnastics today, at 8 p.m., in the Normal Hill gymnasium.

The program, featuring 13 numbers, includes various types of indoor activities, typical of those taught in our public schools.

Today's program is an outgrowth of winter class work and represents the type of instruction activities engaged in by students majoring in physical education. Approximately 250 students will take part in the program.

The opening number will be a marching demonstration by the freshmen, followed by Swedish calisthenics by the freshmen and a dance entitled "Bean Setting," by the juniors.

"Bean Setting" is an English Morris stick dance. The stick carried by each dancer is a planting stick or implement used for making holes in the ground into which the seedlings are placed.

The fourth number will consist of games by the sophomores, while the gym team follows with a wand drill. All classes will take part in an apparatus exercise and the senior women will do a modern dance.

Number eight on the agenda is the sophomores in Danish claisthenics, folowed by the gym team in a trampoline routine and the gym team again in the "Old Gray Mare." There will be a fencing routine by the juniors, Indian Club drill by the gym team and the juniors will wind up the program with a "Kanafaska."

The "Kanafaska" is a Moravian dance executed in a square or quadrille formation common to the folk dances of many countries and a predecessor of our popular American square dance.

Simpson, Batts Join 'Broken Bone Derby'

By Will Grimsley

New York (AP)—Baseball's "broken bone derby"—the 1954 spring session—marked up two more casualties yesterday, sidelining Cleveland outfielder Harry "Suitcase" Simpson and Detroit catcher Matt Batts.

These were just more in a series of accidents which have cut down a score of athletes during preseason rehearsals of the last few weeks.

Simpson was hurt in an exhibition game with the Chicago Cubs at Mesa, Ariz., yesterday. At first it was thought he suffered only a severe bruise while sliding into home plate but x-rays disclosed a fractured left arm. He will be out six to eight weeks.

Batts, number one Tiger catcher, was found to have a broken toe on his right foot after being injured in a game Wednesday with Milwaukee. He'll be out only a few days.

Three Months

Cleveland catcher Mickey Grasso was hurt in the Cub exhibition at Mesa Wednesday and will be out of action at least three months with a left ankle cracked in six places. He was sliding into second base.

While ambitious and reckless slides have taken a heavy toll, other casualties have resulted from thrown and hit balls and from such simple mistakes as stepping into a hole or banging against a wall in the outfield.

The most severe cases have been those involving Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox outfielded, who broke his collar bone fielding a sinking liner, and Milwaukee's Bobby Thomson, who suffered a triple fracture of the ankle March 13 at St. Petersburg.

Williams, out of the hospital, won't be in action until May.

Thomson is out of action for possibly three months.

The aspiring young Red Sox have been hardest hit by the injury siege.

In addition to Williams, Boston outfielder Jim Piersall hurt his wrist running into a fence and Jackie Jensen, the third flychaser, suffered a bad muscle bruise. Third baseman George Kell has a sore arm and can't throw.

German Middleweight Makes American Ring Debut Tonight

New York (AP)—Gustav "Bubi" Scholz, undefeated German middleweight, makes his American debut at Madison Square Garden tonight as a 3½-1 favorite to beat promising Al Andrews of Superior, Wis., in a 10-round bout.

All Sets

It will mark Andrews first appearance in the Garden and it will be the first sports event to be sent over a television network in color.

The picture will come out in the usual black and white on non-color receivers. The national and local broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) will start at 10 p.m. EST.

"Bubi" has scored 49 victories and fought two draws. He has 28 Kayos to his credit.

Andrews has come along fast in the last year. He has won 12 of his last 13. His record is 26-5-1 with three kayos.

A's Rookie Fine Draft Example

West Palm Beach, Fla. (AP)—Forrest "Spook" Jacobs, 28, the Philadelphia A's rookie second baseman, probably is the number one argument against baseball's current draft system.

Because boys like Jacobs often knock around a vast minor league farm system for years without getting a chance at the majors, Commissioner Ford Frick recently named a major-minor committee to revise the draft rules.

Jacobs, for eight years a Brooklyn farmhand, doesn't blame the Dodgers. "They have too many players," he said. He knew he was overshadowed by men like Jackie Robinson and "Junior" Gilliam. But he does think he could have been playing in the majors for two years.

On List

"For three years I was on the Montreal list during the winter but I never even saw Montreal," he said. "I wouldn't know the town if I saw it."

Brooklyn and other clubs with wide minor league holdings often load the choice draftable talent on one farm club roster. Under the current rules, only one can be lost in any one draft period. They finally lost Jacobs last year.

Yankees Blank Red Sox, 2-0

Sarasota, Fla. (AP)— Outfielder "Hank" Bauer and pitcher Bob Wiesler collaborated to gain the New York Yankees a 2 to 0 victory over the Boston Red Sox yesterday.

Seven Innings

Bauer provided the punch to drive in the two runs while Wiesler held the Sox to two hits as he became the first Yankee pitcher to go seven innings.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

"They should quit," is a common quotation heard almost every day during the basketball season in Monroe County, when the subject of the Stroudsburg Poconos, formerly known as the Stroudsburg Veterans of Foreign Wars, is brought to the front. Many self-styled experts have taken it upon themselves to point out that the current Poconos are old, beyond their prime and playing on borrowed time. Maybe the players will admit these various charges, but as to quitting—that's something different.

It is this scribe's contention that a team should never quit until it is dethroned as champion. In Monroe County the Poconos still rule the best in the area, as proven by their Gold Medal Tournament championship won on Wednesday. Why should a player or a group of players bow to inferior competition? The Poconos, both past and present, have proven time after time that they are the best in the area, against all comers.

The Poconos won over City Cut Rate in the final round of the Gold Medal, 74-72, but at one time in the contest held a lead of 22 points. The City Cut Rate club turned out to be a good basketball team, featuring Ray Kaseman and Nick Gatto, members of last season's varsity cage machine at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. The Poconos are good, just examine past and present records and even the hardest to convince will be forced to admit this fact.

Stroudsburg finished second in the Blue Mountain Basketball League during the season just completed and promptly eliminated Nazareth from the post-season play in two straight games. The Poconos now tangle with Weston, the only Blue Mountain League club to hold the Poconos under its collective thumb during the past season. Only because Weston held the Indian sign on the Poconos was the Easton contingent able to win the regular season crown. Stroudsburg will attempt to further show its power against Weston in the coming three-game series.

In case anyone is prone to take the Gold Medal showing of the Poconos lightly, it might be worth while to point out that Coach Tom Shiffer and mates had to hurdle three of the toughest clubs in the eight-team field before grabbing the flag. The Poconos opened with a convincing victory over Jack's Market, came back to easily handle Stroudsburg Typewriter and then win the championship from City Cut Rate. The Shiffermen did all this despite the fact that they were forced to play three straight nights—and at their advanced ages.

The Poconos defeated Stroudsburg Typewriter on Monday, eliminated Nazareth from the Blue Mountains playoffs on Wednesday and came back Wednesday to win the Gold Medal crown against the second-best club in the tournament. In addition, at least one member of the Stroudsburg cage machine works at two jobs, one during the day and the other at night, following the games.

True, maybe such court stars as Henry "Hank" Stetler, "Big John" Possinger, Paul "Muff" Warnick, Jim "Bunky" Smith, Tom Somers and Harvey "Hotsey" Bergman have seen their best days. But, what about such youthful stars as Al Adelmann, Tom Philips and Jim Frailey, all former Stroudsburg High stars? Adelmann is currently playing the best basketball of his career. Stetler was one of the leading scorers in the Blue Mountain League and all the others took turns at playing brilliant basketball during the 1953-1954 campaign.

The Poconos may be on the veteran side of the ledger, but the club has enough youth to give it speed when the chips are down. More than one team has tried to run the Poconos this year, only to find themselves on the short end of the final score. The Shiffermen have the outstanding ability of making the opposition play their game and in so doing have been able to win many more games than opposing teams down through the years. The Poconos are tops until some team in the area can beat them with any degree of consistancy.

Monroe County fans can pay tribute to this organization that overcomes all obstacles to field a team virtually every season by attending next Wednesday's playoff with Weston, at Stroudsburg High. This game is being billed as "Booster Night," at which time the Poconos are hopeful of playing before their largest crowd of the current campaign. The newly crowned Gold Medal title holder would like nothing better than to make the present campaign a financial success in addition to the type of success measured by the number of victories and defeats. It is now up to the fans.

Church Buys Signs For Two Highways

Swiftwater — Two signs have been purchased by consistory of St. Paul's Reformed Church, one to be erected at Blackwell's Corner, and the other at Swiftwater along Rt. 611. The group decided to use the church bell as follows: on the Sundays that worship services are held, the bell will be rung for one minute at 8:45 a. m., which is one-half hour before the beginning of services; then two taps at 9:15, opening time.

The two steps leading to the chancel of the church on the choir side will be removed to make more room for the organ and choir. Tentative plans for other inside renovations were also discussed. Some minor repairs are forthcoming in the basement of the edifice, also.

It was decided to ask the cooperation of all who have burial plots in the cemetery to help clean up in readiness for the summer care, as soon as the ground is dry enough. A definite date for a frolic will be announced.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments of ice cream, cake, coffee and tea were served by Mrs. Warner and Mrs. Heller.

The consistory met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Warner, with the following present: Rev. William Foose, Clarence Rinker, Alvin Niering, Edward Metzgar, Lewis Heckman, Mrs. Harry Heller, Mrs. Arthur Kresge, Mrs. Walter Davis, Mrs. Elmer Mader, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Warner; also Walter Warner of the Cemetery Association, and Donald Coffman, representing the Young People of the church.

SCHOOL SQUEEZE

By Ted & Peter Olwyler

THE SCHOOL SQUEEZE isn't peculiar to Monroe County. It's a nationwide symptom of big increases in population and small increases in educational facilities.

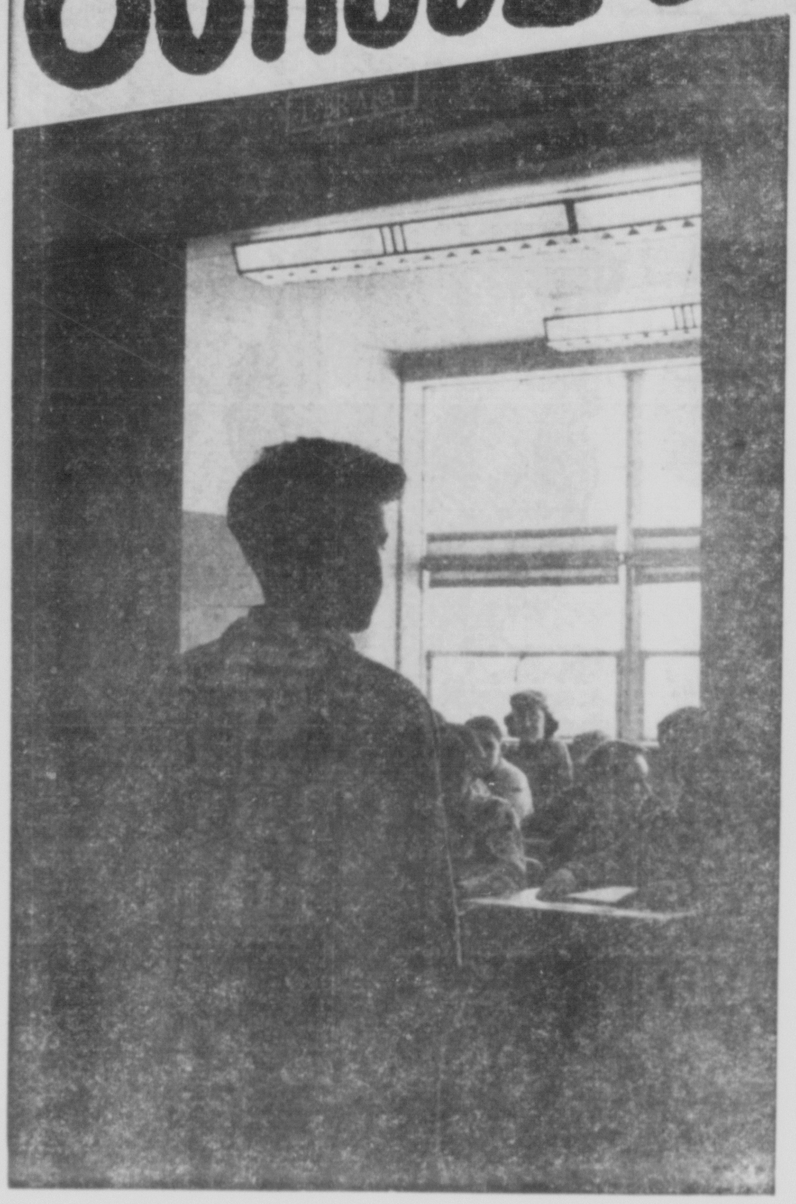

The pressure's strongest in primary and secondary school work. World War Two ended a decade ago. The bumper crop of babies born during and immediately after that period are now in schools—and for most of them it's a pretty tight fit.

The solution is simple: more and bigger schools. But more and bigger schools must come ultimately from the people. A school, like freedom, is expensive—but most Americans agree it is worth the price.

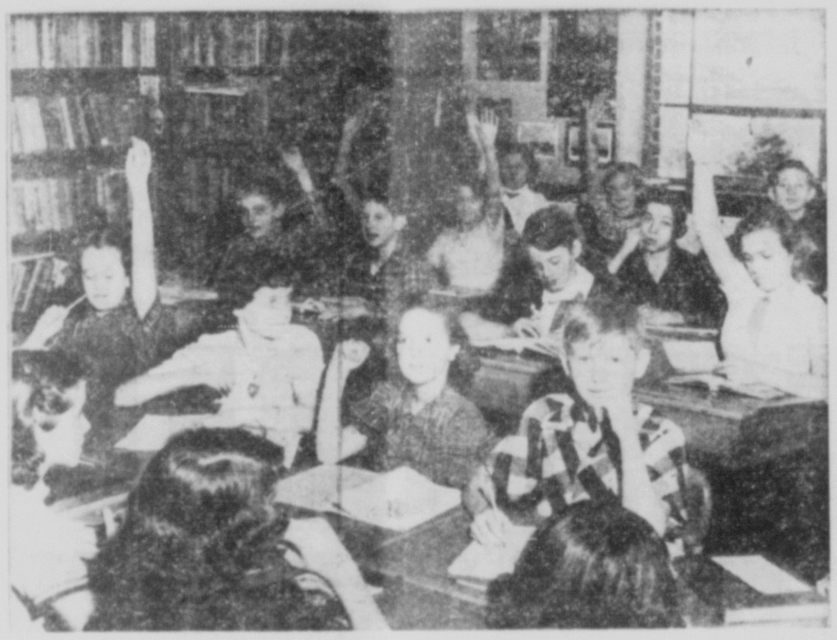

It usually takes considerable prodding before people in a district quit dragging their feet and get down to the sweaty work of financing and building. The big arguments invariably come over ways and means—not need.

Monroe County is in about that stage now. The need is obvious, but ways and means aren't. There has been talk of pooling school district resources. Some suggest East Stroudsburg, Smithfield, Middle Smithfield and Price; others, East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg; still others, Stroudsburg, Stroud, Delaware Water Gap and the Slate Belt region.

The problems—emotional as well as financial—are nettlesome and prickly in such a pooling of resources. The West End launched a five-township jointure two years ago, saw it shipwrecked on Friday, March 12. It's possible to dissolve a jointure—but not to wave away the problem which brought it about: overcrowded schools.

HAMILTON TOWNSHIP'S BRAND NEW SCHOOL is already too small. State OK'd it for grades one to six, but grades seven and eight squeezed in too. Eighth occupies room intended for library. In the Fall, seats for 30 more children will have to be added—somehow.

AGAIN, AT CHESTNUTHILL, desks are packed tight against library shelves. Sixth grade uses half of room which has been partitioned, is so crowded teacher must sit at child's desk set up on blocks. School was built to house 150 pupils, now jams in 385—and will pile an additional 30 on that next semester.

Forced to break with State's fight against classrooms in basement, Chestnuthill put shop, agriculture room and fourth grade below ground level. "I'd hate to see a fire during lunch time," said Miss Margaret Ingram, home economics teacher. "If it were in the boiler room, 200 children would have to get out one door."

SEVENTY seventh and eighth graders in one room . . .

. . . and 4th grade in basement, at Chestnuthill . . .

. . . while at Polk ALL high school classes are in basement among water pipes, girders, stored equipment. Children can schedule only one library period a week because room is used simultaneously for classroom and study hall.

AFTER YEARS of suffering chilly inconvenience of old-fashioned one-room schools, Hamilton teachers found themselves still out of luck when new consolidated school was completed: new building was too small. First graders were moved into "Teacher's Room" (left). Teachers must use children's toilet facilities, gather on back steps at noon to take a break, discuss mutual teaching problems.

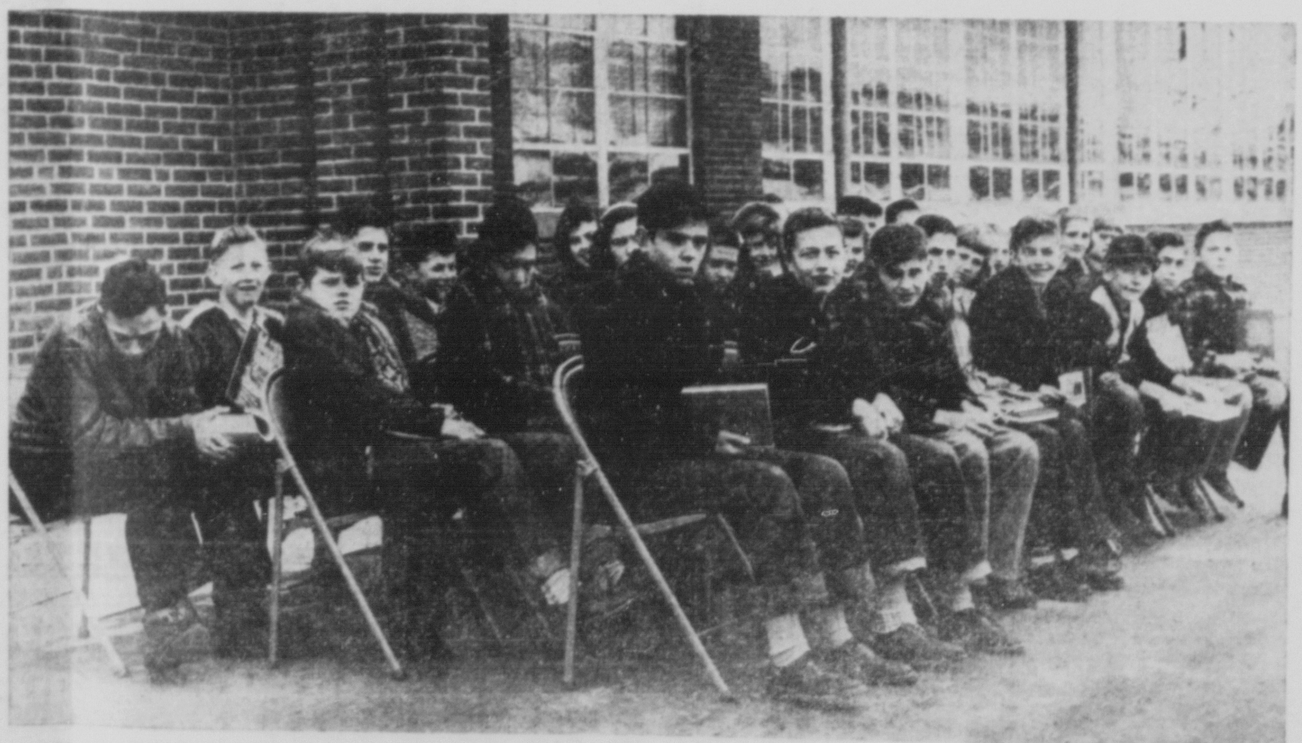

TWO, IN THE SPACE OF ONE—That's the magician's trick Polk school board faces. School built for 180 pupils now houses 325, will get 355 next year. It means school is adequate for only 51 per cent of next year's pupil load. Result: the usual bad basement classrooms on cement floors, surrounded by ugly cement block, bad lighting problems, exposed plumbing. In photo, students sit in hall between basement classrooms, where desks, tables, equipment is stored.

BOILER ROOM MUST DO for Polk band practice. There's no other space available. Nevertheless 30 more students must be fitted in next Fall. School population keeps expanding annually. Building does not. School board must seek some way to avoid chaos. A new high school might leave present schools adequate for elementary grades.

OUT IN THE COLD—These 30 seventh and eighth graders at Eldred group outside their regular classrooms to show the size of the student surplus. Fine new school provides adequately for six grades but cannot take care of extra grades without doubling up in classrooms, burdening teachers and complicating instruction.

Miller Furniture Celebrates 53 Years In Business Here

By James B. Gaffney

One of the Stroudsburgs' fast-growing enterprises, the A. C. Miller Store at Main and Fourth Sts., Stroudsburg, is observing 53 years in business this week.

Established by the late Ambrose C. Miller, the firm had its birth in a small retail outlet on N. 9th St., later moving to its present location.

Current owner, Frank Miller, assumed the business in 1941, following the death of his uncle. Since then he has added almost annually to the huge stock, and increased floor space to provide better customer service.

James B. Gaffney

Miller has a large staff of employes, all well versed in their particular departments which span about 19,000 square feet of floor space, and an additional 600 feet is in window display area.

H. M. Schelden, Lehigh division vice president for Pennsylvania Power and Light Co., announced this week that Light's Diamond Jubilee Committee has completed arrangements with noted motion picture producer David O. Selznick to produce the unprecedented two-hour jubilee TV program on Sunday, Oct. 24. The program will be seen in this area and throughout the nation on a three-network hookup, Scheiden said.

The celebration marks the 75th anniversary of Edison's invention of the incandescent lamp and the birth of the electric industry.

Pro forma consolidated earnings after all charges accruing to common stock of PP&L for the 12 months ending Feb. 28 were $15,265,332, the utility firm disclosed yesterday.

The earnings are equivalent to $3.09 a share of common stock, compared with $12,111,228 or $2.45 a share over the previous year.

Consolidated revenues as of Feb. 28 were $107,506,977 an increase of 7.8 per cent over the 12 previous months. Pro forma consolidated earnings give effect to ownership of 91 per cent of the Scranton Electric Co. stock as if such stock had been acquired and the Pennsylvania shares issued in exchange had been outstanding throughout the period.

Bert George of George's Smart Footwear, 538 Main St., Stroudsburg, announced this week his store will be among those joining the Brown Shoe Co. in their 50th anniversary contest.

George extended an invitation to prospective participants to contact him for details. First prize is a gold-plated Schwinn bicycle. Also on the agenda for presentation are 125 de luxe bikes and 1,000 additional prizes. The awards are for the best entries in a coloring contest with Buster Brown's comic books used as the basis for the test.

Mothers also are being given an opportunity to have their baby's first shoes metalized at reduced rates.

Carl H. Betz of Orefield RD 1 has been named distributor for Paragon Pre-cut Homes, it was reported here this week.

Paragon recently announced completion of plans for a six-room, rambling, split-level home with garage. As far as is known, they say, this is the first time a precut, split level home has been offered the public.

Delivery price is quoted as low as $3,919. Featured are large picture windows, a hardwood stairway, 20-foot living room, and other ideas incorporated in the 48-foot overall building. Other type homes range to $6,771, delivered, company officials say.

Robert Reeves, manager of the local Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. store disclosed this week an Akron, Ohio girl has won the national essay contest sponsored by his firm on "I Speak for Democracy."

Miss Elizabeth Ellen Evans was declared the winner. She will talk on "Voice of Firestone" radio and TV programs Monday night, March 29.

Ever wondered about the difference between beef marked prime and that marked choice? Prime beef is produced from young and well-fed beef-type cattle; it has liberal quantities of fat interspersed within the lean meat. Choice beef is of high quality, too, but has less fat than prime.

Mr. Horace Heller
Editor, Daily Record
Dear Mr. Heller:

Your editorial in last Saturday's Daily Record entitled "Junk in the Mail", was very timely. You are to be congratulated for your sincere effort of bringing an important issue such as this to the attention of your readers.

Although you mentioned a few of the faults which the recent postal regulation allows to be committed against the public, you seem to have missed a few of the more serious effects which this new regulation will allow to be perpetrated on the American society under the guise of economy of Postal operation.

I feel that your readers should know of these apparent dangers which can be sprung on them at any time under this postal regulation.

To be brief let's examine what the law allows:

(a.) Any person or persons can cause to be distributed through the U. S. mail services any printed matter, advertisement, circular, newspaper, etc. etc. to any and all residents, simply by supplying the proper number of newspapers, circulars, etc. imprinted with the address of "'local householder,' 'Box Holder,' etc." and paying a small postal charge for the services rendered. (This is not the exact wording).

It appears to be an innocent law, but is it.

Let's examine briefly some of the dangerous possibilities if some unscrupulous people wish to take advantage of this weak law.

I will try a few:

1. Every home in America is open to entry to any form of subversive literature, circulars or even newspapers that anyone may wish to distribute. It is not impossible to have the Communist Daily Worker delivered daily and forced into the privacy of our homes by our mail carriers who are performing their duty under the law of our U. S. Postal Service.
2. Every home with growing children can be made the victim of indecent and obscene literature. It is not beyond the imagination to see something come by our mails addressed to the "teenagers of the house" or any nominal they may deem as necessary to reach the right people.
3. Such a means of entry into a persons home makes a travesty of his or her Christian name and makes a mockery of our concepts of what privacy and individuality we are accustomed of obtaining with our given name. We do not have to accept the nominal "House Holder Local" to allow this false pretense for easy entry into our homes.

These are a few of the dangers as I as an individual can see in this loose postal regulation. I hope a few readers are enlightened.

The irony of it all is:

Recent surveys reveal that this type of mail is causing the Postal Service to operate with a deficit and to overcome this deficit our Senators and Congressmen are thinking seriously of changing the rate from three-cents to four-cents for the letters ordinary people write to each other. So you see, we are paying the way for all of this "Junk in the Mail" even though we do not want it.

Why not write your Congressman or Senator.

Respectfully
A Reader

Section 7. In case the Tax Collector, or a Deputy Tax Collector, shall at any time find within the Borough of East Stroudsburg any resident or inhabitant above the age of 21 years whose name does not appear upon the Tax Duplicate, he shall report the name of such person forthwith to the Assessor, who shall thereupon certify the same unto the Borough of East Stroudsburg, which shall then promptly certify such name to the Tax Collector reporting such name, whereupon the Tax Collector shall add the name and assessment of such person to the Duplicate of the Borough of East Stroudsburg and proceed to collect the tax hereby levied and assessed against such person.

Section 8. The Tax Collector shall have power in case of neglect or refusal of any resident or inhabitant within the limits of the said Borough to make payment of the tax hereby levied and assessed against him after two (2) months of the date of the tax notice, to levy the amount of such tax, any penalty due thereon and costs, by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of such delinquent in accordance with the provisions of the "Local Tax Collection Law" of 1945 as amended and supplemented.

Section 9. The Tax Collector is hereby authorized and empowered to demand, receive and collect from all corporations, political sub-divisions, associations, companies, firms or individuals employing any person or persons owing the per capita tax hereby levied and assessed, or whose wife owes such per capita tax, or having in possession unpaid commissions or earnings belonging to any person or persons owing such per capita tax, or whose wife owes such per capita tax, upon the presentation of such written notice and demand it shall be the duty of such corporation, political subdivision, association, company, firm or individual to deduct from the wages, commission or earnings of such individual employees, then owing or that shall within sixty (60) days hereafter become due or from any unpaid commissions or earnings of any taxable in its or his possession or that shall within sixty (60) days thereafter come into its or his possession, a sum sufficient to pay the respective amount of the per capita tax and costs shown upon the written notice or demand, and to pay the same to the Tax Collector of the Borough of East Stroudsburg within sixty (60) days after such notice shall have been given. The Employer shall be entitled to deduct not more than two percent (2%) for his expenses for such moneys paid over to the Tax Collector. Upon the failure of such employer to make such deduction when properly notified as herein provided such employer shall forfeit and pay the amount of such tax for each such taxable whose taxes are not withheld and paid over to the Tax Collector as herein provided, which amount may be recovered by an action of assumpsit in a suit to be instituted by the Tax Collector on behalf of the Borough of East Stroudsburg.

Section 10. The Tax Collector shall keep a correct account of all moneys collected by him under the authority of this Ordinance. He shall mark "paid" on each duplicate at the name of each taxable person and the date on which payment was made. The Tax Collector shall remit said tax to the Treasurer of the Borough of East Stroudsburg by a separate statement at the same time as other taxes are remitted to the Borough.

Section 11. All taxpayers subject to the payment of the per capita tax hereby levied and assessed shall be entitled to a discount of two percent (2%) from the amount of such tax upon making payment of the whole amount thereof within two (2) months after the date of the tax notice. All taxpayers who shall fail to make payment of such per capita tax charged against them for four (4) months after the date of said tax notice, shall be charged a penalty of five (5%) percent, which penalty shall be added to the tax by the Tax Collector and be collected by him.

Section 12. It is the intent of this Ordinance and there is hereby conferred upon the Tax Collector all the powers, together with all the duties and obligations including the exonerations to the same intent and as fully as provided for in the "Local Tax Collection Law" of 1945 as amended and supplemented.

Section 13. The per capita tax levied and assessed by this Ordinance shall go into effect thirty (30) days after the adoption of this Ordinance.

Section 14. Any Ordinance or part of Ordinance conflicting with this Ordinance is hereby repealed in so far as the same effects this Ordinance.

It is hereby declared as the intent of the Town Council and Chief Burgess of the Borough of East Stroudsburg that this Ordinance would have been adopted, passed and approved had such unconstitutional, illegal or invalid sections, provisions, sentences, clauses or parts thereof not been included herein.

Ocelot Proves Animals Eat Oddest Things

By Arthur Edson

Washington (AP) — The sakiwinki jumped up and down and squeaked excitedly in monkey talk. The ocelot climbed a news reel man and licked his astonished face. But the bassaricyon — reportedly the only one in captivity calmly slept through the entire animal news conference.

For Ivan Sanderson, a British-born wild animal man who bills himself as the "foreign minister of the animal kingdom," is in town to display his 50 beasts at a sportsman's show.

Come on over, he said, and interview the animals.

But it was Sanderson who was talking as the conference began. Around home, he said, he allows the animals to run loose. Whereupon he let out the ocelot, which scampered up the news reel man and started licking away.

"Feels like my electric razor," said the news reel man, in the voice of a person who never really liked the feel of an electric razor.

"Funny thing about animals," Sanderson was saying. "No matter what the books say, they'll eat anything human beings will. Cats, for instance, love vegetables. At our place, we don't pay the slightest attention. We just cook 83 dinners and we all enjoy the same thing."

"What about cows?" asked a reporter. "Do they like meat?"

"Certainly," Sanderson said. "Think how many insects they must eat while cropping grass."

The ocelot chewed busily on the news reel man's tie. "I wonder," said the news reel man, "if you can put 'ocelot chewed up necktie' on an expense account?"

The talk turned to house pets, and Sanderson put in a good word for the king vulture. "Mine follows me around and cries," he said. "You might think they would be nasty, dirty creatures. Nothing to it. Absolutely spotless."

The ocelot was on its back on the floor now, with its legs wrapped around the news reel man's arm and its teeth sunk firmly into his sleeve. "Hey," said the N.R.M., "Leggo!"

Sanderson smiled indulgently, then reached over and pried the ocelot's paws apart.

"I don't think any animal is basically vicious," he said.

REP. CHET HOLIFIELD (D-Calif.) uses hands and globe to illustrate point in his Washington office as he discusses recent H-bomb test he witnessed in the Pacific. Holifield, a member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, said that the public must know the power of these bombs "in order that they may realize the terrible responsibility that rests on the leaders of our nation and other countries to prevent World War III. N. J. Turnpike Calls For Bids On Huge Issue

New Brunswick, N. J. (AP) — The New Jersey Turnpike Authority yesterday issued a call for bids for approximately 27-million dollars worth of series "B" serial bonds to finance construction of its proposed link with the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

A spokesman for the authority said the notice to investment banks called for bids on or about April 14.

He said proceeds of the bond issue also will be used to cover half the cost of a proposed bridge spanning the Delaware River that will provide a direct connection with the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Plans for the bridge call for it to be built south of the Bordentown exchange.

Red Star Hits Army Officers For 'Ringers'

Moscow (AP) — Red Star blasted some sports-minded Soviet army officers yesterday for a deal that might be called "the case of the wedding ring ringers."

The Soviet army newspaper said the officers had persuaded two sergeants to marry two women physical culture students so their army unit would have girls to enter in an athletic tournament for the families of servicemen.

The episode was reported to have been revealed by the brides.

They wanted to dissolve the marriages after the tournament, Red Star said, but were refused help by the officers who talked them into the scheme.

The newspaper criticized the officers as "those guilty of arranging these fictitious marriages who now are only shrugging their shoulders."

This year, again, Chevrolet is out ahead of the other low-priced cars in the things that mean more pleasure and satisfaction for you. And yet Chevrolet costs the least—no other line of cars is priced so low. So why go hundreds of dollars higher when you can have all these things you want in Chevrolet? Come in and let us show you the kind of facts and figures you like to see!

*That explains why more people buy Chevrolets—and want Chevrolets—than any other car.

Out ahead with that bigger, lower look

Leading higher-priced cars have Body by Fisher with that big, smooth, low-slung look. Chevrolet has it. And Chevrolet is the only low-priced car that does!

Out ahead with the highest-compression overhead valve engines

High-compression engines deliver more power and finer performance on less gas and Chevrolet has the highest compression ratio of any leading low-priced car.

Out ahead with that smooth and solid big-car ride

Chevrolet's the only low-priced car with Unitized Knee-Action. That's one reason for the superiority of Chevrolet's road-smoothing, road-hugging ride.

Out ahead with bigger brakes for greater safety

Chevrolet brakes are largest in the low-price field! This additional size provides greater braking power for smoother, safer stops with less pedal pressure.

Out ahead with zippy, thrifty Powerglide

It's the first automatic transmission in the low-price field and the most improved and advanced! Acceleration is smooth as silk and instantly responsive. Optional on all models at extra cost.

Out ahead with automatic power controls

Chevrolet is the first low-priced car to bring you the extra-cost options of Power Steering (available on all models), Power Brakes (available on Powerglide models) and Automatic Front Window and Seat Controls (available on Bel Air and "Two-Ten" models).
